WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 5, 2020

Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Parade grand marshals Richard and Connie Brandau were riding high in Marsing resident Sharon VanWassenhove's 1967 Pontiac Firebird on Saturday. Judging results were not provided by press time.

Grand marshal duty latest in Brandaus' busy summer of recognition

The summer of 2020 has been a time of accolades and acknowledgment for Richard and Connie Brandau.

In July, the Wilson couple were named recipients of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Association Life Member Award. The ceremony to present the award was postponed along with the ranchers' summer meeting in Silver City because of COVID-19 precautions.

The pair received further recognition Saturday when they rode as the grand marshals for the Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Parade through downtown Homedale.

Connie Brandau acknowledged that they have been busy and this is an unusual time, but she believes that it is probably the best time for the recognitions.

"This is probably good that they're asking us to do this and

Owyhee's rodeo popular in Intermountain region

There may be some changes, but one constant remains with the Owyhee County Rodeo.

It's one of the best open rodeos around, attracting top talent from around the Intermountain Northwest every year.

This year's rodeo may be more popular than ever. Twenty-two of the 36 Idaho Cowboys Association-sanctioned dates before Homedale have been postponed or cancelled in 2020.

Because of that popularity

First Owyhee COVID-19 death recorded

Health level tool now on SWDH website

A 55-year-old Marsing man is the first person in Owyhee County to die from COVID-19.

The fatality was added to the county's data at coronavirus.idaho.gov, on Friday afternoon. Health districts are not providing information on individuals who either contract the virus or die from its complications.

But a post to the Homedale Community Awareness Facebook page linked to a Go FundMe page that gave some details about the deceased man, and asked for contributions to help the family.

As of Saturday afternoon, more than $5,800 has been raised. Here is the link for anyone who wants to contribute: <https://www.gofundme.com/f/ayuda-para-gastos-de-funeral-para-la-familia-merid>

As of Monday (the last day for which statistics were updated before deadline), there were 220 confirmed cases of COVID-19, and 18 probable cases, in Owyhee County. The county has a weekly incidence rate of 39.9 — down 8.4 points from Sunday.

Statewide, 200 people have died.

The incidence rate puts Owyhee County

Grand View to pay $43,000 for muni water facility plan

DEQ awards grant to help figure out well situation

Part of the process of bringing the City of Grand View drinking water system into compliance fell into place last week.

The Idaho Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) has awarded a $27,500 grant to help the city develop a facility plan and environmental review.

According to a DEQ press release, the project will help evaluate the city system's deficiencies and pinpoint necessary improvements.

Grand View currently has one well online with a second well shut down because of contamination concerns.

The operational well also has casing problems, and city leaders have struggled to come up with a solution that will bring Grand View back into compliance with government regulations.

Towns must have two wells for redundancy.

The total facility plan project is $70,606, and the city must furnish more than $43,000 to complete the funding. HECO Engineers was the only firm to submit qualifications to head up the project, according to the May city council meeting minutes.

Attempts to get more information on the issue have been unsuccessful.

The city council recently made cuts in the public works budget lines — including laying off a worker and contracting other maintenance work — to free up money for needed upgrades to the water and sewer systems.

City leaders also hired retired public works supervisor Bob Servis to oversee the water project.

The city council meets at 6 p.m., on the second Wednesday of every month.

Motorcycle gang member placed on rider for role in Marsing man's death

A man involved in an altercation that led to the death of a Marsing farmer could potentially spend the rest of his life in prison, or he could be out in less than a year.

Third District Court Judge Thomas W. Whitney sentenced Mark Wayne Warner to life in prison on July 28, with five years fixed, for his part in the death of Rod St. Clair.

Owyhee County Prosecuting Attorney Jeffrey Phillips noted that the court retained jurisdiction in the case, meaning that Warner will be put on a rider. If Warner is successful in completing the rider program, the court may decide not to impose the remaining prison term but place him on probation instead.

Whitney will review the retained jurisdiction on June 25, 2021, which means Warner could be behind bars less than a year after his sentencing.

In addition to the to the life sentence, Warner was ordered to pay two separate $5,000 fines — one to St. Clair's stepdaughter Debra Thomson as the victim of the aggravated assault, and a second to Carol St. Clair, on behalf of Rod St. Clair, the victim of the aggravated battery.

Mark W. Warner

"These fines aren't anywhere close to being able to compensate them for their loss and the trauma they've suffered," Phillips said. "It is a small acknowledgment of what they have been through."

The offender's part in the death of the 74-year-old Marsing man stems from an incident on Nov. 15, during which Warner used St. Clair as a human shield against shots fired from a gun held by Thomson.

Identified as a member of the Owyhee County chapter of the Vagos motorcycle gang, Warner was originally charged with five felonies — involuntary manslaughter, aggravated battery, aggravated assault, malicious injury to property, and a persistent violator enhancement. The manslaughter and injury to property charges were dropped as part of a Rule 11 plea agreement.

Magistrate Judge Shane Darrington dropped felony involuntary manslaughter and aggravated assault charges against Thomson on June 18.

The case of a third man found in the vicinity on the night of St. Clair's death, Joshua Jon McDaniel, has been handed over to federal prosecutors.

Providing some sparkle in the gloom

HMS student donates earrings to care home residents

As society looks to find any light in the world, coping to deal with all the negativity that has swirled around since the COVID-19 pandemic has put so much in its grip, Gwen Parker has done her small part in offering some relief.

The Homedale Middle School student got an idea recently to make and donate earrings to elderly women to help cheer them up during their quarantine. Owyhee Health and Rehabilitation has been in a strict lockdown to keep its vulnerable residents safe, and those same women are benefitting from Gwen’s generosity.

She initially donated 11 pairs to the residents of the PEO Chapter House in Caldwell, where her great-grandmother Roberta Tavares is a resident.

The 13-year-old incoming HMS eighth-grader recently followed that up with a donation of 25 pairs to OHR residents in Homedale.

Gwen made arrangements with OHR community liaison Lindsey Love to make the donation and presented them to her outside the facility, owing to the center’s current access policy.

“She wanted to hand them out herself, but due to COVID-19 protocols she couldn’t enter the facility,” Gwen’s father, Gavin Parker, said.

Love has distributed the earrings to the center’s residents.

Creating earrings is a relatively new endeavor for Gwen. She said that she just started making them this summer to keep her busy because she and her classmates have had such a long break from school.

“I enjoy designing and creating the earrings, and I am selling them (as well as donating),” she said. “It was a business idea to earn extra money.”

Gwen said that she has made a large number of earrings and thought that the donations would make the residents at the Chapter House and OHR happy.

“(The donations would) brighten up their day since they haven’t been able to have visitors lately,” she said. “Helping others makes me happy, too.”

She said that, for the most part, her business has been a solo endeavor. She is solely responsible for creating the jewelry.

“No one else is involved except my mom (Annie), who helped me get started picking out supplies,” Gwen said.

She said that the reactions of those who have received earrings have been positive. The recipients have said they look good and very professional.

“Everyone has been very encouraging and helpful,” she said. “I hope to keep making and selling the earrings.”

4-H’ers dive into showcase event in unusual year

As Owyhee County continues to navigate through our “new normal” way of life, our 4-H youth are preparing for the 2020 Owyhee County Fair where we are “Barn in the USA”! They have been practicing at home with their animals and putting the finishing touches on their community hall exhibits.

Janelle Thompson

Our youth have worked incredibly hard with all their 4-H projects over the past months. They, along with their parents and leaders, have had to make many adjustments throughout this year. We are excited for them to be able to exhibit their work and be rewarded for their efforts. With the support of the Owyhee County Fair board and all that are involved with putting on this fair, we recommend that all patrons follow the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) guidelines. These include social distancing and the use of facial coverings when social distancing cannot be maintained, and as always, frequent hand-washing is recommended.

We look forward to a fun fair and to make this a positive experience for our youth that have had to forgo so many other experiences this year.

We would like to thank those who continue to support our youth, even if it may be from a distance. We look forward to highlighting these youth with their show results on our Facebook page, Owyhee County 4-H Youth Development, so check it out and let’s keep encouraging all these awesome kids!

— Janelle Thompson is the University of Idaho Owyhee County Extension 4-H coordinator. For more information, you can reach Thompson at the U of I Owyhee County Extension Office at (208) 896-4104 or owyhee@uidaho.edu. The office is located at 238 8th Ave. W., in Marsing.

A weekend at the Charley — the rest of the story

After a morning of “so ya wanna be a cowboy,” we got ready for a day trip to Three Forks Canyon to check out “The W grade.” I had read about it, written about it and seen pictures of it but never actually been there. The ATVs were loaded with a day’s supply of survival gear like beef jerky, pork rinds and beer. Extras like cameras, water and lunch were also thoughtfully added to the load.

The first stop was at a stone house where Rob’s father-in-law was born. With walls two feet thick, it was about 18 feet by 24 feet outside. Located about two miles past the middle of nowhere, I can’t imagine living so far away from a neighbor of any kind. All of the roof trusses and ceiling wood were laying inside, but it was probably a nice place at one time. There was also a homemade grader of some sort that had weathered the decades setting out by the road. It’s a long ride to the canyon, but with the refreshments we brought, every stop was a “watering hole.”

Even from the rim of the canyon the distinct “W” shape of the rockwork that Col. Fogus’ crew built was easily seen. When viewed more closely it’s clear that some more engineering work would have been a wise investment of time. The grade is too steep, and the several switchbacks have almost no landing to turn a wagon or stagecoach on. It was used only one time, and the horses had to be led down separate from the coach, which was lowered slowly with ropes. Though Fogus’ company was awarded the mail contract, local natives showed their dislike of the intrusion by burning the stage stations and running off all the stock. It would be several months before the mail and stages went through by another route.

After a lunch of hamburgers cooked over a sagebrush fire, we took in more sights in the canyon. We met up with a couple hikers that had forgotten the rule: only hike half as far as you can go so that you have enough strength to make it back. They were barely making forward progress but perked up when offered a ride back up to the parking lot. To top that good deed, they got a free beer, too!

Rob asked me if there was any other short trip I wanted to make on Sunday morning. There is a Studebaker touring car in Soldier Creek that I’m sure has a connection with bootlegging in the early ’30s, and I wanted to see if I could find it again. Being that I was the only one in the group to have any idea where it was, I should have been in the lead vehicle, but Doug and I were eatin’ dust all the way up to the last gate before we caught up.

Some of the bad spots in the road had been repaired, including the tie rod-bending washout where my Uncle Bill had changed the route many years ago. The juniper and sagebrush had grown so much that not much was recognizable. I tried to find the small remains of a building (more like a pile of logs) at the Camp Three Forks site but couldn’t. Neither could I find the monument that was placed there several years ago. The bare ground where the buildings once sat is almost completely grown in with trees.

Further down the creek, I did eventually find the car, though by now it was almost completely buried. When I saw it about 30 years ago, I was able to get a picture, which I later identified as a Studebaker Big Six from around 1926.

I have an idea for another story about the car, the moonshine still up the road and the people who operated it, though most of the tale is unverifiable. I try to never let facts get in the way of a good story.

— Caldwell resident Stan Soran’s family has a long history of Owyhee County capers. Since the 1950s, the Soran Family has had a mine on Soldier Creek. Four generations of family and friends have hiked, hunted, played, panned, partied, mined, built, burned and rebuilt at the “Cabin.”

Clockwise from top:
The Studebaker Touring car that the author ran across in Soldier Creek decades ago is presumably buried in an accumulation of dirt now.

BGV announces back-to-school dates, policies, fees

The Bruneau-Grand View School District is preparing for the new school year, which is set to begin on Monday, Aug. 17.

The school week runs Monday through Thursday.

Any new student, grades K-12, to the district should pre-register at the appropriate school after Monday. Registration will be available at Grand View and Bruneau Elementary schools, and Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Proof of immunizations and a birth certificate are required upon enrollment.

A student set to enroll who resides with someone other than parents must submit to the principal of the appropriate school a document showing that the person with whom the student resides assumed responsibility as a guardian.

Sixth-graders who attended district schools as fifth-graders needn't pre-register.

The Pre-K Round-up will take place on Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., at Bruneau Elementary and from noon to 3 p.m., at Grand View Elementary.

The first day of Pre-K classes will be Monday, Aug. 24 in Bruneau, and Tuesday, Aug. 25 in Grand View. The classes are held on Monday and Wednesday at Bruneau Elementary, and Tuesday and Thursday at Grand View Elementary.

Sixth-grade orientation will take place from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., on Thursday, Aug. 13 in the Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School cafeteria. The Rimrock open house will precede orientation from 4 p.m., to 6 p.m.

No open houses are scheduled for the elementary schools.

The school day runs from 8 a.m. to 3:50 p.m., at the elementary schools with breakfast served between 7:35 a.m., and 7:50 a.m. Breakfast is free to all students in the district.

Rimrock's school day runs from 8 a.m. to 3:40 p.m.

Lunch fees will be $2.65 for grades K-5 and $2.90 for grades 6-12, while adults will pay $4. Checks for school lunch should be separate from other school fees and should be made payable to Join School District No. 365.

The district has all-day kindergarten. Call Bruneau at (208) 845-2492 or Grand View at (208) 834-2775 with questions.

According to Idaho Code 33-201 for a child who did not attend kindergarten, "school age" to enter the first grade shall be 6 years old on or before Sept. 1. For a child who attends kindergarten, "school age" shall be 5 on or before Sept. 1.

Buses will run the same routes as in May. If a route is modified from 2019-20, notification will be made as soon as a new schedule is available.

In the event a student is injured at school, the district does not provide medical insurance.

Information on high school and junior high athletics can be found at www.sd365.us, or by calling the school at (208) 834-2260.

Fall practice begins Monday — 7 a.m. to 9:15 a.m., and 6 p.m. to 8:15 p.m., for football; 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., for cross country, and 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., for cross country. Junior high practices will begin after school starts.

All athletes must deliver signed paperwork at the first practice to ensure immediate participation. Paperwork is available on the school website or at the Rimrock office.

Athletes entering sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth or 11th grade must obtain a new physical after May 15 and put it on file at the school prior to participation in any sport. Entering 10th- and 12th-graders with a valid form on file only need the yearly parental consent form completed.

Desert Sage Health Centers are providing free sports physicals through Sept. 23. Call immediately to avoid possible delay to the start of your participation.

Rimrock fees include:

Activity card — $30

Sports participation — $50 per sport played for high school, and $25 per sport played for junior high. Fees are due by first game.

National FFA or SkillsUSA — $20 each

Future Hispanic Leaders of America or National Honor Society — $10 each

Yearbook — $35

Sports admission — $6 for adults, $3 for students

Yearly sports pass — $90 for adult, $180 for family

Rimrock students owing fees and/or bills from last year won't be allowed to participate in the same class until the fee is paid.

Each year a student directory is published listing the student's name, grade level, parents' names, address and telephone number. The directory is used by school district personnel for mailing, etc.

The notices for the directory will be distributed to the students along with a signature form to authorize schools to release student information for public relations, such as: athletic events, honor rolls, student organizations, official school or district functions, speech, drama, musical events and other similar kinds of activities. Information could be used on the school district website as well as for newsletters, newspaper articles, and television and radio.

Parents not wanting their child's name in the directory or used for public relation purposes need to have a letter on file by Sept. 1.

Regarding parents access to records, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy

Act, enacted as part of the educational Amendment of 1974, P.L. 93-380, establishes the rights of parents, guardians, or eligible students to have access to their children's school records and limits the disclosure of personally identifiable information from school records without consent of the parent, guardian, or eligible student to:

- Other school officials, including teachers, within the district who have a legitimate educational interest.
- Officials of other schools in which the student intends to enroll; however, parents will be informed of the transfer, receive a copy of the record, if requested, and have an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the content of the record(s), if requested.
- Authorized representatives of: Comptroller General of the United States, Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare and State education authorities, provided that access to student records is necessary in connection with the audit and evaluation of a federally supported program or for the enforcement of federal legal requirements in connection with such a program and that unless specifically authorized by federal law, no information is included which would permit the personal identification of students or their parents after the data has been collected.
- Such persons as necessary in connection with a student's application for, or receipt of, financial aid.
- In compliance with judicial order or orders of administrative agencies where those agencies have the power of subpoena. Parents(s) guardian(s), or eligible student(s) will be notified of all such orders and the school's compliance with same.

Bruneau-Grand View School District will make available for inspection school records to parent(s), guardian(s), or eligible student(s) complying with the following procedures:

- Notify the school(s) involved that you wish to inspect student records;
- Make an appointment for inspection;
- Complete and sign the Request to Inspect School Records form. When the eligibility of the person(s) initiating a request has been verified, the school will make the records available for inspection.

If there are records of individual testing, the person(s) inspecting the records will be informed of the location and procedure for inspecting them.

✓ COVID-19: Health Alert Levels stay in place for at least two weeks firmly in the red zone of Southwest District Health’s new health alert level system.

Late last week, the health district revealed interim criteria for moving between levels of its health alert level system, more than a week after the board of health adopted the system and passed recommendations for public health mitigation for each level.

Owyhee County Dist. 2 Commissioner Kelly Aberas-turi (R-Homedale) is the health board’s vice-chair.

The new criteria will be used to guide Southwest District Health when making decisions to move counties to a higher or lower alert level. These will be data-driven decisions that aim to provide residents with timely and accurate information, according to a press release.

“This system will be an effective tool for our entire community as our residents seek information to minimize their risk of exposure where they live, work, and play,” SWDH director Nikole Zogg said.

The district’s COVID-19 health alert system is available in English and Spanish at: <https://phd3.idaho.gov/covid19/#1594683890043-dd9a7ad1-a2c3>

Health alert levels for each county will be reviewed on Mondays based on the prior two weeks’ qualitative and quantitative data points, starting on a Sunday and ending on a Saturday.

At least two full weeks will be spent in a health alert level before determinations to move to a lower, less severe level.

Southwest District Health is also working with schools as they develop and implement plans for the upcoming school year in conjunction with the State Board of Education’s Back to School Framework (<https://boardofed.idaho.gov/resources/idaho-back-to-school-framework-2020/>).

Questions may be directed to the SWDH COVID-19 call center from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday at (208) 455-5411.

The latest local numbers and data are available at <https://phd3.idaho.gov/coronavirus>, and statewide information can be found at <https://coronavirus.idaho.gov/>.

✓ Brandaus: Couple has long-standing ties with county rodeo board this and this because next time we’re in the paper, it’ll probably be in the obituaries,” she said, tongue firmly planted in her cheek.

“I don’t like that progression.”

Both Richard and Connie have a long history with the Owyhee County Rodeo Board.

Richard has served on the board for about 50 years, he reckons, and Connie was rodeo secretary for 18 years.

Trying to put the amount of time that the Brandaus have been involved with the rodeo into perspective, Connie referenced an old photo of the board from years ago that she saw recently.

“(Richard) and John Cossel are the only two of the young-er guys on the board who are still alive,” she said.

Richard had a more active participation in the rodeo in his younger days. He used to bulldog, and he still team ropes, but just for fun these days.

His experience with rodeo is why he was asked to be on the board in the first place. He understood rodeo, was part of it and competed.

“They wanted someone who knew the ropes, so to speak,” Richard said.

“Being on the rodeo board is actually a lot of work for Rich,” Connie said. “He missed one rodeo performance, one time, about five years ago, when they first started having slack.”

She said that her children were planning a trip to the Oregon coast and asked the Brandaus if they wanted to come along.

“We were going to be back on Sunday night,” Connie said. “Rich looked at me, and said ‘We can’t go. They have slack on Sunday, and I have to be there for that.’

“The guys on the board told him to go. ‘We can get by without you for one day.’”

Richard’s body has paid the price for his rodeo activities.

“Jump off a horse at 40 mph onto a steer going the same speed and 50 years later saying ‘Man, why do my knees hurt so much?’” Connie said. “So, he’s got two new knees, now.”

Richard asked Connie on Friday night if they were going to have to walk the parade route, and if so, was she going to bring a cane?

“I’ve got pretty good mobility now, for an old man,” Richard said. “If they make us walk, I’m going to need that cane.”

Sharon VanWassenhove of Marsing supplied her classic 1967 Pontiac Firebird to save the walk.

Homedale FFA offers bingo at fair this week

Homedale’s FFA chapter will present bingo at the Owyhee County Fair this week.

Games will be held at 4 p.m., and 6 p.m., today, Thursday and Friday under the covered patio next to the livestock barn.

The cost is $1 per card, and players can bring their own daubers. Unspecified prizes will be awarded.

Homedale FFA’ers will sell tickets in an ATV raffle on Thursday.

✓ Rodeo: Many new faces keep up work behind the scenes; 5 seek crown performance, which starts at 8 p.m.

Thursday at the arena is reserved for saluting those who are waging the fight against breast cancer. Kick Cancer Night also includes a fundraiser to generate money for the fight, and everyone — from competitors, to rodeo board members, to spectators — is encouraged to wear pink to call attention to the valiant efforts against breast cancer.

The performances continue Friday and Saturday night for a rodeo that has entered its eighth decade.

The traditions continue with the return of wild cow milking and the wild horse race.

The local flavor is captured through nightly mutton busting competitions for youths ages 5-7, and a team roping competition open to duos that feature at least one rider who lives within the boundaries of any of the school districts that serve Owyhee County.

The gates open at 7 p.m., Thursday through Sunday with a pre-rodeo at 7:30 p.m., and the action starts at 8 p.m. Admission is $7 for youths and seniors and $10 for general admission on Thursday. Friday and Saturday tickets cost $7 for youths and $12 general admission.

Tickets are available at Matteson’s in Homedale, D&B Supply in Nampa or Caldwell, or at the gate.

There are new twists to the weeklong event this year.

Homedale resident Sam Riley, a native of Richfield, takes over as board president from Howard Maupin.

Marsing’s Tim Dines, a veteran of both the rodeo and the county fair, is vice-president this year.

There are other changes with the board and management of the rodeo this year.

Kaleb Hotchkiss has earned a spot on the board after volunteering at the rodeo since he was a youth.

Josh Mackenzie of Jordan Valley steps into a big role, taking over as chute boss from longtime board member Kent Curtis.

Tim Mackenzie continues as arena director, and Zack Zumstein is back as the event announcer.

Jacky King is in her seventh year as rodeo secretary.

The King Cattle Co., of Homedale will once again provide stock for the show.

Annie Phelps, the 2011-12 Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Queen as Annie Kunerth, has assumed the reins of queen coordinator from longtime pageant manager Debbie Shearn.

Shearn steps aside because her 16-year-old daughter, Kali, is one of five young ladies with hopes of succeeding Queen Annie Miller of Marsing.

The daughter of Tim and Janet Miller has represented the Owyhee County Rodeo at dozens of rodeos and parades over the past year.

Other queen contestants include Bruneau’s Bridget Black, who ran for the crown in 2016; Marsing High School student Hannah White; Michaela Bocci of Kuna; and Hayley Williams of Caldwell.

Downtown parade kicks off fair week again

Left: The crew from the Samuel C. Phillips Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 11086, based in Wilder, flew the colors again Saturday as they do at neary every Homedale parade.

Dist. 1 county commissioner and Board of County Commissioners chair Jerry Hoagland, Sheriff Perry Grant, Dist. 23B Rep. Megan Blanksma and Dist. 23A nominee Matthew Bundy were among the elected officials and those hoping to be elected in November who rode on the Republican Party float on Saturday.

Marsing grads finally get their day in the sun

Marsing High School seniors celebrated with the traditional cap flip at the end of Saturday’s graduation ceremony on the school’s football field.

Seniors make injured classmate part of celebration

Marsing High School graduates reserved a spot for fellow senior Constantino Lagunas during Saturday’s ceremony. Lagunas was a passenger in a vehicle that was struck by Grayson Thurston, who was reportedly driving drunk, on April 5 in Nampa. Lagunas has been in a coma since the accident, and the woman driving the car was killed. A GoFundMe account, www.gofundme.com/f/constantino-lagunas-jr-medical, has been set up to help Lagunas’ family with medical expenses.

Keynote speaker Jason Sevy addresses the collected crowd of graduates and their families. Sevy, whose daughter Jessica graduated Saturday, is chair of the Marsing School District Board of Trustees.

Proud mom Heidi Ankeny embraces her son Samuel after receiving a rose from him during Saturday’s graduation ceremony. Looking on are Samuel’s dad, Luke, and his brothers, Jacob and Braden.

New queen coordinator involved since she wore crown

Annie Phelps—then Kunerth—gave up the Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Queen crown in 2012, but she never left the contest behind.

“After I relinquished the title in 2012, I felt very strongly that I did not want to just leave and never return. The Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo has always been my favorite week of the year, and I wanted to contribute in any way that I could,” she said.

So after coronating Bonnie Crisci, she turned to then-queen coordinator Debbie Shearn.

“I have very happily called myself ‘Debbie’s lackey’ for the past eight years,” the 30-year-old Phelps said.

Since a few weeks after last year’s rodeo, the Hells Canyon-area resident has been the Owyhee County queen coordinator. Shearn stepped down because her daughter, Kali, is seeking the sash and crown this year.

“Debbie has not only taught me how to run a fair and fun contest, but also set the bar in being a kind and caring individual,” Phelps said. “She is always happy to lend an ear or a hand if you need it and to celebrate in any accomplishment or life milestone that you reach.”

Phelps’ milestones have been numerous since she left the realm of Owyhee County Rodeo royalty.

She married Heath Phelps eight years ago, and the couple has two sons — Owen, who is 5 years old, and Hazen, who turns 3 later this year.

The year her reign ended, Phelps earned a dental hygiene degree from Apollo College after first attending Boise State University.

She considers Owyhee County her second home. The daughter of Chuck and Tammy Kunerth graduated from Nampa’s Skyview High

Annie Kunerth in 2011

School, but she spent almost every weekend in the Owyhees gathering and branding cattle, hunting, camping and riding ATVs.

Before ascending to the coordinator position, Phelps was in charge of the rodeo’s flag carriers for the grand entry and in between events.

As queen coordinator, the duties have increased. She rounds up new sponsors and maintains relationships with current sponsors. She also helped current queen Annie Miller of Marsing represent the rodeo and Owyhee County.

Phelps also has secured judges for this year’s queen contest and a location for every aspect of the competition not directly tied to a rodeo night, including the interview and horsemanship contests.

She’s also a cheerleader for the contestants “to encourage the girls to put their best foot forward and keep their chins up even in tough situations.”

“I am there to facilitate the proper representation of this title and to help problem-solve whenever situations may arise,” she said.

Phelps also has an eye on growing the rodeo and the queen contest.

Added to the horsemanship competition this year is a flag presentation component.

“I do feel that as our rodeo grows and changes, our contest needs to be able to grow and change with it; however, I do plan to do everything I can in order to keep it attainable for all girls whom may be interested in trying out,” she said.

Although her connection to the rodeo has been from the queen side, Phelps appreciates the events that are put on.

“My favorite part of the rodeo is the energy of the crowd and the excitement of watching a fair catch and a fast barrel pattern,” she said. “I am always in awe of those who have the guts to turn and burn that quickly.”

Phelps also puts the grand entry at the top of her favorite aspects of the queen contest.

“(It’s the tie) between the grand entry every night of the rodeo with the high energy and elation and just getting to know the girls throughout the week,” she said.

“It is really cool to watch the girls support each other during these competitions and create friendships with each other even while competing against one another.”

If it sounds like Phelps gravitates to a frenetic pace in life, that might be true.

She’s a full-time mother and part-time dental hygienist. She’s taken a role that requires energy, spirit, and exuberance. She has her hobbies — riding horses, sewing, crafting, reading, hunting and fishing. And she has a cottage industry brewing, too.

“I have a small, out-of-home sewing business, Iron Annie’s, which I run in any spare time that I am able to find,” she said.

Champs, leaders, locals saddle up for ICA rodeo

Plenty of locals and plenty of top performers will cruise through Homedale this week for the professional portion of the Owyhee County Rodeo.

Marsing veteran cowboy Austin Williams heads the list for both distinctions.

Last year’s Owyhee County runner-up currently leads the Idaho Cowboy Association bareback standings.

Williams is one of four bareback competitors in the draw this week. He heads for the gate on Saturday.

Katie Jo Macfarlane is another top local ready to saddle up Saturday night. She’s the ICA breakaway roping leader heading into her hometown rodeo and will join Maddy Hansen as a local in the final night.

Josie Thurman, last year’s Owyhee County champion, competes during the slack on opening night today along with Jordan Valley’s Meg and Tayler Eiguren and Melba’s Janey Reeves. Jamie Marts, another Homedale-area cowgirl, goes Friday.

Several cowboys with Homedale ties are ready in tie down roping, including Homedale High School graduate Matt Nauman. Nauman leads a tight season race and will take his run Saturday.

ICA second-place cowboy Justin Parke competes Friday along with Homedale’s Aaron Marts and Jordan Valley’s Sam Mackenzie.

HHS grad Bo Pickett will compete in today’s slack, while another Homedale cowboy, Chase Hansen, competes Saturday. Hansen shared the county title with Ryan Opie last year.

The saddle bronc field features Tygh Valley, Ore.’s Johnny Espeland, who is far-and-away the circuit leader so far. Espeland competes Thursday, while reigning county champion Austin Amick from Harper, Ore., is up Friday.

Locals registered for steer wrestling include Marsing’s Scott Roeser (Thursday) and the Jordan Valley Mackenzies — Brandon, Ryan, and Sam — on Friday. Brandon is the ICA leader.

Team roping is chock full of local competitors, and the ICA season is sponsored by Homedale-based SRC Sports.

Southern Owyhee County resident Daxton Jim and Adrian’s Bryan Reay, the ninth-ranked team in the ICA standings this year, will compete Saturday night along with Homedale’s Jerad Macfarlane and his partner Jaylen Eldridge and the Homedale duo of Clayton and Chase Hansen.

Several locals are involved in the slack on opening night, including Dusty Easterday with John Schutte, Shaun Lequerica with Ryan Opie, Josh Mackenzie with Ryan Carson, Josh Bruce with Dillon Bahem, Bo Pickett riding with his dad, Rich, Trevor Fillmore with Ella Villagrana, and Tex Suftin with Kade Taylor.

Rodeo directors Ben Badiola and Tim Mackenzie team up on Thursday.

Friday’s locals include rodeo president Sam Riley with John Hagler, Marsing brothers Kirby and Kelsey Cook, and Homedale’s Aaron Marts roping with Melba High School assistant basketball coach Terry Logan.

Barrel racing gets started with a heavy hitter right out of the gate. Current circuit leader Cambria Estep competes during slack along with locals Janey Reeves and Abby Suftin.

Adrian’s Sydney Davis rides Thursday, while reigning Owyhee rodeo champion Italy Jo Sheehan competes Friday.

Marsing cowboys Wes Ireland and Jeb Ireland compete Saturday with ICA bull riding leader Mason Cooley of Pineville, Ore.

Another Marsing competitor, Zane Brackett, has entered the novice saddle bronc division and will ride on the final night.

Saturday’s ranch bronc competition will feature ICA leader Francisco Robles and the man who shared the Owyhee County championship last year, Gabe McKay.

Joel Baer, who was part of a three-way split for last year’s title, competes Friday.

The fair has begun

Carter Clay takes his animal through its paces during the Senior Horsemanship contest Monday morning to start off the Owyhee County 4-H Horse Show at the fairgrounds in Homedale.

Owyhee deputies make drug arrests

Suspect hides meth pipe in chicken sandwich

A Californian faces multiple drug charges, including felony possession, after a U-Haul in which he was the passenger was pulled over on Friday at U.S. Highway 95 and Graveyard Point Road.

According to Owyhee County Sheriff’s Chief Deputy Lynn Bowman, a deputy detected the odor of marijuana coming from the vehicle. Matthew Wade, 27, of Covina, Calif., admitted to having a marijuana pipe.

A search turned up three grams of marijuana and a small white envelope with one gram of cocaine in Wade’s wallet.

Wade was charged with felony possession of a controlled substance and misdemeanor possession of paraphernalia.

Wade is not currently in custody, and details on court dates were not available.

• A Boise man has been accused of multiple drug offenses and trying to destroy evidence during a July 27 traffic stop in Marsing.

Bowman said that Joseph South, 48, was stopped for driving a 2006 Dodge Durango 40 mph in a 25 mph zone on 2nd Avenue West.

The responding deputy said that South appeared nervous, and he summoned a K-9 deputy to assist. The dog alerted to the vehicle, and a search discovered shards of broken glass in a chicken sandwich.

“He tried to destroy a meth pipe in his sandwich,” Bowman said.

The pipe did test presumptive positive for methamphetamine.

South was charged with felony possession of a controlled substance and also faces misdemeanor charges of paraphernalia possession and destruction of evidence. He also received an infraction for speeding.

South is not currently in custody, and details of court dates were not available.

1995 reigning Queen Jonni Lynch

Jonni Lynch is the reigning 1995 Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo Queen.

Lynch, 17, is the daughter of Vic and Sue Marostica of Kuna.

This fall she will be a senior at Kuna High School.

Jonni has held many past queen titles such as the 1992 Caldwell Little Britches Sr. Queen, 1993 Eh-Capa Bareback Riders Jr. Princess and the 1994 El Korah Shrine Rodeo Jr. Queen. Lynch has also received numerous horsemanship and speech awards.

Jonni is representing Owyhee County in the competition for the title of Miss Teen Rodeo Idaho August 15-19 in Gooding, Idaho.

As a role model, she would like to go on representing the state of Idaho to teach our young people the values of the western way of life and promote the great sport of rodeo!

Parade featured floats, prizes, food

Attendance was down slightly from last year, but those who came enjoyed the parade Saturday kicking off Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo week in Homedale.

Numerous businesses contributed door prizes to be given away at the Homedale City Park afterwards, and food vendors were on hand to provide corn-on-the-cob, burgers, hot dogs, sodas, and everything else to make the day enjoyable.

Winners of parade float entries were the Pearson Family, who took home the Sweepstakes prize, and employees of Paul’s Market, who won first prize in the Commercial division. Second went to a float from Whitney Dickinson, and third prize was captured by Ken’s Tent & Canvas.

Dust Devil places four out of four on Monday

Telori Watson is not a new face at the Owyhee County Fair. In fact, neither is her partner Winterhawk. And this year, they teamed up again to show their stuff.

Watson, 14, a member of the 4-H Dust Devils Club, competed all day Monday. Monday was the first day of the fair, and the 4-H Horse Show took the spotlight from 8 a.m. until well past sundown.

Watson showed in four out of five of Monday’s events and took home a ribbon in each one. Watson took 3rd in Showmanship and Reining, 2nd in Western Riding and grabbed the 1st place ribbon for Trail.

Out of the seven possible events, Watson’s favorite is bareback riding.

Pool corporation to map plans for construction

Members of the Homedale Community Swimming Pool Corporation have been notified by the board of directors of a special meeting to be held at the Homedale City Hall on Wednesday, Aug. 12, at 8 p.m., according to Norman Tolmie, secretary.

Business will include:

(a) To consider and act upon the matter of constituting and equipping a swimming pool in accordance with the plan and specifications prepared by Ivan Stone and Associates Architects.

(b) To consider and act upon the matter of adopting the resolution of members or stockholders pertaining to obtaining for and on behalf of the association through the FHA a loan of $62,000.

(c) To consider and act upon any further business that may be necessary and proper in connection with the meeting.

Members unable to attend the meeting were asked to sign a proxy to represent them and cast a vote on the proposals and return it to Tolmie or James Duncan, treasurer.

County fair parade routed over new bridge

The annual Owyhee County Fair Parade this year will be highlighted with a special ribbon cutting ceremony dedicating the newly constructed bridge.

Treasure Valley dignitaries including Gov. Don Samuelson will take part in the dedication program scheduled to start at 9:45 a.m., Saturday, Aug. 22, with the parade to start immediately after at 10 o’clock. Area mayors will also be invited as special guest with Mayor Les Carter acting as host.

Bill Sacht, Boise District engineer of the Idaho Department of Highways, and Ellis Matthes, Boise, state highway engineer, will also take part in the dedication ceremony. The new bridge was completed in June, and the old bridge which was constructed 50 years ago has been razed.

Mrs. Keith Stansell and Mrs. Frank Haylett are serving as co-chairmen of this year’s parade with members of both the Alpha Phi chapter and Xi Alpha Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi assisting with the planning and directing of the parade route.

The parade route will be reversed with the lineup to start from across the new bridge.

Entries will parade past the city park, down Idaho Avenue turning north at Bestway corner and proceeding past the Homedale Nursing Home on Owyhee Avenue.

Youth named Corpsman for July

MARSING – Maurice Lockhart was selected by the staff of the Marsing Job Corps Civilian Conservation Center as the Corpsman of the Month for July.

Lockhart is currently taking training in the building trades and has already completed the welding course and received his certificate. This corpsman is 20 years old and comes from Greenwood, S.C. He will receive a total of $25 in awards – $10 from the Corpsmen Welfare Fund and $15 total in gift certificates from Marsing Drug, Justos and Morfitt’s Marsing store.

THE Portland Journal, after copying an item from the AVALANCHE pertaining to our Sunday amusements, advises Brother Hammond to come here, remarking that he might do a “land” office business in the gospel circus costume (red stockings, paper cap, etc.) as silent partner with the owners of “Whisky Bill,” “Wake-up Jake,” etc., in a line of Sunday entertainments. With Hammond’s gray-horse side-show, peddling “free ticket” to Heaven, -in the attractions of “Dancing Charley,” “Sleepy Dave,” etc., -there might be a splendid run of “Revival Fund” envelops. We hope the elder may be induced to come along. He would prove a good card for this and the adjoining camps.

WHEN railroads are completed to a point nearer Idaho, there will be a great deal of summer travel in this direction. There is no more delightful spot in creation than the vicinity of these mountains, from the tops of which a magnificent view of the country can be obtained in some places, for a distance of hundreds of miles. This country will in time be properly appreciated as an attractive resort for the tourist.

WE heard of a blind man recently who is an adept at playing checkers, but if his wife wants an armful of fuel he is unable to find the woodpile.

WE have a friend in this town who would like to have a law passed preventing barbers from eating onions.

Vicious men are the salt petre; hard, stern men, the rock salt; nice family men, the table salt. Old maids are the brown sugar, pretty girls are the fine, pulverized sugar. Pass the sugar, please.

WE may expect plenty of hams and bacon from the Walla Walla country this season, as the O. S. N. Company announce that they will take salt in ten-ton lots from Portland to Wallula at $20 per ton.

Commentary

Baxter Black, DVM

On the edge of common sense David and Goliath of television

“The farmer has always been a peasant.” — Richard Blinco, Idaho

When the market crashed in 1975, Richard had a ranch, feedlot, dairy, potatoes, alfalfa and a packing house.

Here we sit 45 years later, and not much has changed. Today less than 1.3 percent of the American population (and seven percent in Canada) is involved in production agriculture. We, who are left with the responsibility of feeding the ever-growing population that now stands at 331 million people. We do it. It is lots of work. We have an enormous amount of scientific, technical, medical, and mechanical research and dedication looking over our shoulder as we break the ground, plant the wheat, brand the calf or drive the truck.

Imagine a ‘Nóngmín’ bent over in a rice field a thousand years before Christ came, not much different than a farmer bent over a furrow, feeling the soil today. What is our motive ... inspiration? Do we say, “We’re feeding the world”? “I’ll get famous!” “The big money?”

No. It is as simple as “It’s what I do.”

There are people who have a deep heart, have a conscience, are dedicated to those we work for, are close to God, maybe have guilt, or just kindness and care. They don’t think “money first.” Occasionally, the consumer has a chance to make farmers’ lives easier, nicer, more satisfying.

Let me suggest ... their own television channels. Television waves are controlled by a handful of global companies. They have brought wonderful communication worldwide with hundreds of channels. And 99.9 percent are dedicated to the majority polled, which are suburban folks.

The ag rural television, which is not “about us” but “for us,” are limited to pillars like US FARM REPORT and Orion Samuelson and some local weeklies that are an hour long.

RFDTV Channel is the only exception; RFDTV contents are exclusively rural and agriculture, 24 hours a day. They are leading the effort to have Congress vote on HR 2682 that would ensure at least one percent, 0.1 ... 1%, is devoted exclusively to the ag rural market.

Like ag publications and ag radio, ag television is part of what holds all of our ag community together. To those of us in ag media, it’s not just a job. I think it has something to do with our souls.

If you want to help, contact your U.S. representative or senator about passing HR 2682.

HR 2682:

Agricultural News and Rural Content Act of 2020

This bill requires certain video programming distributors, such as cable providers, to use at least 1% of their channel capacity to transmit channels of programming that serve the needs and interests of rural areas.

From Washington Third fed judge for Idaho long overdue

The U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary held a hearing on June 30 to discuss the Judicial Conference of the United States’ most recent recommendations for more federal judgeships. The Judicial Conference has recommended a third judgeship for Idaho consistently since 2003. As a member of the Committee, I reiterated the need to put aside partisan differences and create a third federal district judgeship in Idaho to meet this increasing judicial need.

As I stressed during the hearing, Idaho is in a precarious position with only two authorized federal judges, and faces further difficulties and shortages with current judges reaching retirement eligibility. Idaho is one of only three states that only has two authorized judgeships. Idaho was allocated its two federal judges positions when the state had a population of 600,000 people. Today, the population of the state is nearly 1.7 million people — nearly three times higher. Yet, we still only have two judgeships. The criminal caseload, according to the Clerk of Courts for the District of Idaho, has increased by 58 percent in the past few years. Idaho has to rely on visiting judges to meet caseload needs.

The Judicial Conference reviews and evaluates Article III of our Constitution judgeship needs and makes recommendations on where to add judgeships to the courts of appeals and district courts. The Judicial Council included information about the following considerations in its preliminary or final report when recommending

by Robert Romano

President Donald Trump has issued an executive memorandum to Secretary of Commerce Wilbur Ross to discount illegal aliens who are subject to legal removal from the U.S. Census.

Here, the president is invoking the Fourteenth Amendment, Section 2 of the Constitution, which states, “Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed.”

From the president’s memorandum: “The Constitution does not specifically define which persons must be included in the apportionment base. Although the Constitution requires the ‘persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed,’ to be enumerated in the census, that requirement has never been understood to include in the apportionment base every individual physically present within a State’s boundaries at the time of the census. Instead, the term ‘persons in each State’ has been interpreted to mean that only the ‘inhabitants’ of each State should be included.”

So, who are the inhabitants of each state? The president’s memorandum says it “requires the exercise of judgment. For example, aliens who are only temporarily in the United States, such as for business or tourism, and certain foreign diplomatic personnel are ‘persons’ who have been excluded from the apportionment base in past censuses.”

Which, raises the question, if tourists — whose travel visas have certain expiration dates — can and have been excluded from the Census, then why not illegal immigrants who are subject to removal upon discovery by federal authorities?

In Burns v. Richardson (1966), the Supreme Court held that tourists and other non-permanent residents could be excluded from apportionment in the Hawaii state legislature because “Total population figures may thus constitute a substantially distorted reflection of the distribution of state citizenry,” which would have granted more representatives to Oahu than were owed under the State constitution.

The same can be said of sanctuary states like California, whose own non-legal resident populations skew the Census and award additional seats in the House to that state that would not otherwise be counted if only legal inhabitants were considered. Given that illegal immigrants are not legal residents, they are temporary migrants, they could be treated the same as tourists under the

Wife’s “mommy makeover” is prudent only if both are on board

Dear Dave,
My wife and I are on Baby Step 2 of your plan. About eight months ago, she gave birth to our second child, and now she would like to have a mommy makeover. I want her to be comfortable and feel good about herself, but those procedures can be really expensive.
I don’t know how to fit that in with trying to pay off debt and get control of our money. What do you think?
— Greg

Dear Greg,
Basically, this kind of cosmetic surgery isn’t an emergency. It’s a desire. It can, in many cases, be a valid and reasonable desire. But if you guys are serious about getting out of debt and gaining control of your finances, I’d advise waiting until after Baby Step 3 to make this happen. At that point, you’ll have paid off all your debt — except for your home — and you’ll have a fully funded emergency fund of three to six months of expenses in the bank.

Going on vacation isn’t a need, it’s a want. Buying a new couch isn’t a need, it’s a want. I know you love your wife, and you want her to be happy required to save her life, it would be an emergency — a need. In a case like that, you’d stop what you’re doing right now and address the issue.

This may be something you both agree is a valid expense. If it’s something you’ve talked through together, and something you both want, that’s fine. It’s a reasonable goal under the circumstances. But I would wait until after you’re out of debt and you have your emergency fund in place. Being out of debt will make it so much easier to save up and take care of any out-of-pocket expenses you might have to pay.

All in all, it’s money well spent to help your wife look and feel like herself again. Just do it at the proper time where your finances are concerned!

with civil and criminal cases, jury trials, sentencings and other proceedings in 2017; and
• The court requested the third judgeship based on its heavy criminal felony docket, population growth and significant geographic factors, resulting in extensive travel for the court’s two judges among the various divisions in order to manage the caseload.
In March, I spoke directly with Senate Judiciary Chairman Lindsey Graham (R-S.C.) regarding Idaho’s judicial emergency and the requisite to enact legislation that provides Idaho the additional judgeship it so desperately needs. Fellow Sen. Jim Risch (R-Idaho) and I introduced S. 103 earlier this Congress to establish an additional federal district judgeship in Idaho for the first time in more than 60 years. Reps. Mike Simpson (R-Idaho) and Russ Fulcher (R-Idaho) also introduced a counterpart to this legislation, H.R. 214, in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The need for an additional judge in Idaho has been widely recognized for years, and we must address this judicial crisis. I will continue to work with my colleagues in Congress on both sides of the aisle for enactment of legislation that enables a third judgeship position for Idaho to help ensure effective access to the courts for Idaho’s increasing population.

law — at least, that’s what President Trump is saying. The question is whether, like in Burns, who is being counted constitutes a “permissible population base,” in the words of the Court.
Various estimates over the years have stated that anywhere from 11 million to 30 million illegal aliens could be residing in the U.S. but nobody knows for certain. When President Trump attempted to have a question included on the Census on citizenship, the Supreme Court arbitrarily shot it down on June 27, 2019, leaving him to pursue a fallback plan.
Under a July 11, 2019 executive order, Trump instead mandated federal departments and agencies to provide records to the Department of Commerce and the U.S. Census Bureau to compile an accurate counting of citizen, legal resident and illegal alien populations for the 2020 Census — but without a citizenship question on the Census form for households to fill out.
Instead, the Trump executive order requires “All agencies shall promptly provide the Department [of Commerce] the maximum assistance permissible, consistent with law, in determining the number of citizens, non-citizens, and illegal aliens in the country, including by providing any access that the Department may request to administrative records that may be useful in accomplishing that objective.”
In addition, the order specifically requires the following records to be furnished to the Census: “National-level file of Lawful Permanent Residents, Naturalizations” from the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services, “F1 & M1 Nonimmigrant Visas” from DHS and Immigration and Customs Enforcement, “National-level file of Customs and Border Arrival/Departure transaction data” from DHS, “Refugee and Asylum visas” from DHS and Department of State, Worldwide Refugee and Asylum Processing System, “National-level passport application data” from State, “Master Beneficiary Records” from the Social Security Administration and “CMS Medicaid and CHIP Information System” from the Department of Health and Human Services.

Now, Trump’s move to block illegal aliens from being counted will surely be tried against the Evenwel v. Abbott (2016) Supreme Court decision that held “As constitutional history, precedent, and practice demonstrate, a State or locality may draw its legislative districts based on total population.” Then, plaintiffs were objecting to Texas’ plan to count the total population including non-citizens, both legal and illegal, given in the Census toward legislative districts. The Supreme Court unanimously held in Texas’ favor.
And while that may seem like it might preclude what Trump is trying to do here, the question is slightly different, which is what constitutes the “total population” in each state. Is it the number persons who happen to be in each state at the time of the Census’ taking? Or the number of inhabitants, as Trump suggests? And who decides who is an inhabitant?

Here, Trump shows that past presidents have made the ultimate determination, excluding tourists and also sometimes excluding overseas military personnel and sometimes including them.
From the memorandum, “the Constitution also has never been understood to exclude every person who is not physically ‘in’ a State at the time of the census. For example, overseas Federal personnel have, at various times, been included in and excluded from the populations of the States in which they maintained their homes of record. The discretion delegated to the executive branch to determine who qualifies as an ‘inhabitant’ includes authority to exclude from the apportionment base aliens who are not in a lawful immigration status.”
So, Trump wishes to separate out citizens and legal residents from those here either on temporary visas or here illegally. That’s different from what the Supreme Court decided in 2016.
The case is stronger than you think. If persons with temporary travel visas have been excluded constitutionally in past Censuses, then why should persons who overstay those travel visas be included? The same can be said for illegal aliens subject to deportation who never had a visa to begin with. If tourists and visa over-stayers aren’t included, then neither should illegal aliens be included.

What makes newspaper notice superior to other forms of notice?

Newspapers are more than just the traditional medium for notices. Newspapers watch government closely and report on government activities.

Newspapers are credible, independent, and can guarantee readership. Newspapers are passed along to other readers, and can provide affidavits of publication.
