LET THE FUNDRAISING BEGIN

Third time is charm for TRHS

Confetti flew last Wednesday as a thrice-planned expansion finally broke ground at Homedale Terry Reilly Health Services clinic.

TRHS officials and employees as well as federal and city government representatives were on hand during the celebration, which also introduced attendees to the general contractor and architectural firm carrying out the long-awaited construction of a 4,700-square-foot modern clinic to the south of the current Homedale office.

“We are finally going to do what we’ve long wanted to do and put a new clinic out here,” Terry Reilly CEO Heidi Hart told the crowd to kick off the morning ceremony on a spot formerly occupied by a warehouse.

“We’re really excited to be bringing this to fruition.”

The new clinic will be built behind the existing clinic so there will be no service interruption. An expanded parking lot will replace the old clinic once the new building is occupied. Hart said the plan is to eliminate the need for surface parking on East Idaho Avenue.

GV wants judge to OK wastewater funding plan

Clerk: Move is a stopgap in case grant funding doesn’t cover whole bill

For the second time in less than a year, the City of Grand View plans to ask a judge for permission to fund an infrastructure project.

But, city clerk and treasurer Kathy Brown said, the city council isn’t seeking judicial confirmation to saddle taxpayers with a bond.

The amount the city seeks is about $2.061 million to shore up the wastewater system.

“The reason that we are going through judicial confirmation is so that we can apply for ARPA (American Rescue Plan Act) funding,” Brown said, reiterating that the project isn’t being funded through the judicial confirmation (JC) process.

“The JC is only a guarantee for funding agencies if we take out any loans.”

Brown said the city is applying for grants

Three Creek School levy on the ballot

Property owners within the boundaries of the tiny Three Creek School District have a decision to make.

Mail-in ballots are due by 8 p.m., on Tuesday to decide whether the district in remote southeast Owyhee County will be able to charge a two-year supplement levy to generate $20,000 per year for the next two school years.

The annual cost to each property taxpayer is estimated to be $83.58 per $100,000 in taxable assessed value. For a primary residence, that would be net assessed value after the homeowners exemption is applied.

The supplemental levy is being sought to fund maintenance and operation of the

People flock to second DeLamar Day in JV

Integra DeLamar held its second annual DeLamar Day, a community event for family and friends to gather and celebrate their mining history and talk about the future of the project site.

On Friday, more than 30 people from around Jordan Valley, some having driven from as far away as the Nampa and Homedale areas, joined two tours of the project site. Integra Chief Operations Officer Tim Arnold and retired employee and current project consultant Kim Richardson discussed the status of the site and what could be expected in the next few years.

DeLamar Day continued into the evening, where roughly 200 people joined in the celebration for an Integra-hosted community dinner and dessert that supported Jordan Valley High School and Skinner's Rockhouse.

The evening included the first-ever Integra goat roping, which had the young and young at heart joining in the celebration with each hoping to get their hands on the coveted belt buckle.

"DeLamar Day is to show our appreciation for the community, while providing a great fundraising opportunity that comes from our strong relationship with the high school," Integra community affairs manager Emily Hendrickson said. "We love being a part of the fabric of the community, and we value how the people of Malheur and Owyhee counties have accepted us with open arms."

"We look forward to many more years of DeLamar Day celebrations. This year nearly doubled in size, and we hope to see it grow even more."

Ice cream from Skinner's Rockhouse was a treat for the folks who turned out for DeLamar Day, which also featured a free dinner.

build at 108 E. Idaho Ave., which pleased Homedale Police Chief and Homedale Ambulance emergency medical technician Jeff Eidemiller, is the plan to have a separate entrance off South 1st Street East for first-responders and ambulances. This will eliminate congestion that occurs when a patient needs to be transferred to a hospital.

Last week's festivities also marked the beginning of a TRHS construction capital campaign for the estimated $2.5 million project.

Rudy Soto, the Idaho director for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development, attended the groundbreaking and reiterated the recent $1 million Emergency Rural Health Care grant announced two weeks ago for TRHS.

"It's extremely significant because we all enjoy health and wealth, and when someone close to us isn't feeling well, it affects the family," Soto said. "Today marks an investment in your prosperity."

Soto said Idaho's status as the fastest-growing state in the union over the past five years is putting pressure on the rural healthcare system and the expanded clinic will help get out in front of the problem.

Soto was one of the people with a ceremonial shovel along with TRHS board members, Homedale clinic physician's assistant Janine Franco and Dr. John Wold, who is the TRHS Homedale-based dentist at the North 2nd Street West clinic.

The 2nd Street location will merge with the new building — which will also bring a pharmacy and mental health services — to bring all Terry Reilly offerings under one roof.

Homedale resident Robyn Page has been on the TRHS board of directors for 15 years, and her family has benefitted from the clinic ever since they arrived in town in 1994.

"We've had superb care with them," Page said, reflecting on her son's special needs. "They've always come through and been right there for us."

Mayor Gheen Christoffersen thanked Page for "sticking up for the community and for the things we need."

"It's a pleasure to have Terry Reilly as a part of our community," the mayor said. "Our community is growing. We need healthcare, and it's great healthcare."

✓ Funding: Grand View needs more than $2M for wastewater repairs and plans to use loan funds only if the project's total cost is greater than the amount of grant funding received.

Grand View is currently working with the Idaho Department of Environmental Quality on a grant, she said.

"The city will not be approved for any grant funding without a loan guarantee in place, and that is what the JC will do for the city," Brown said.

According to a legal notice on Page 5A of this week's The Owyhee Avalanche, the city's proposed judicial confirmation petition is the subject of a city council public hearing at 6 p.m., on Wednesday, Sept. 14 (the same day as the council's monthly meeting).

According to the legal notice, the petition would seek judicial confirmation of the city's power to "incur indebtedness."

The judicial confirmation petition, if approved, would pledge Grand View's wastewater system revenues to the payment of indebtedness over a period of years, according to the legal notice.

In the meantime, the city's contractor, Sustainable Resources from Pocatello, is addressing comments DEQ returned after the proposed wastewater facility plan was submitted.

The city council unanimously decided in July to petition for judicial confirmation.

A similar petition was approved in December when the city sought permission to bond for up to $2.1 million to improve the drinking water system.

In July DEQ awarded a $2.7 million low-interest loan for the water system project.

At the time, a DEQ official said the city was also on the "fundable list" to receive up to $3.35 million in ARPA and Clean Water State Revolving Loan Fund monies, but the council would have to submit an application.

Homedale council meets today about sewer bond

The Homedale City Council has scheduled a special meeting today in the next step toward wastewater system improvements.

The council is scheduled to adopt an ordinance to amend existing Ordinance 430 to approve a sewer revenue bond.

A subsequent vote will be taken to create a resolution approving the sewer revenue bond anticipation.

The special meeting starts at 6 p.m., inside the magistrate courtroom that doubles as council chambers (31 W. Wyoming Ave.).

Second try for Marsing's walk study

Registration is open in a second attempt to bring a walkability workshop to Marsing.

The Looking Glass Academy will take place from 8:30 a.m., to 4 p.m., on Thursday, Sept. 1, and from 8:30 a.m., to noon on Friday, Sept. 2. The workshop will take place at Marsing City Hall, 18 Sandbar Ave.

The objective is to identify the city's walking accessibility and devise an improvement plan.

RSVP to city clerk and treasurer Jolyn Thompson at (208) 896-4122 or jthompson@marsingcity.com.

The first workshop was cancelled because of a lack of participation.

Marsing senior set for busy final year

Ben Edwards is no stranger to service, and he enters his senior year at Marsing High School a couple months after learning of another avenue.

The son of Stephanie Edwards and David Cline capped his junior year with a weeklong stay at Boys State.

Edwards was sponsored by American Legion Post 128 during the June 13-18 civics event at Gowen Field in Boise.

Prior to Boys State, Edwards knew exactly what he wanted to gain from the experience.

“I really hope to gain a solid understanding of our government,” he said. “I’ve always had an interest in Political Science, and I feel like this will be a good opportunity to explore that area more.”

Edwards has an eye on the Student Council president position and was on the Student Council as a junior, but he has no long-term political aspirations at the moment.

He also was Academic Decathlon team captain.

His favorite school subjects are math and science.

“I am planning on attending the University of Washington to study Physics and eventually earn my Ph.D. in Quantum Computing,” he said.

Away from the classroom, he enjoys photography, reading and Dungeons and Dragons.

He does get out of the house, though.

“My mother raised me to be an avid hiker, so I’ve always loved being outdoors,” he said.

NOTICE OF HEARING TO CONSIDER THE FILING OF A PETITION FOR JUDICIAL CONFIRMATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Wednesday, the 14th day of September, 2022, at 6:00 o’clock P.M., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, at the Grandview City Hall, 425 Boise Avenue, Grand View, Idaho, the City Council of the City of Grand View, Idaho (the “City”), will conduct a public hearing to consider the filing of a petition for judicial confirmation under the Idaho Judicial Confirmation Law, Title 7, Chapter 13, Idaho Code. The proposed project is to make immediate and necessary improvements to the existing wastewater system.

The proposed petition would seek judicial confirmation of the power of the City (1) to incur an indebtedness as an “ordinary and necessary expense” of the City authorized by the general laws of the State, within the meaning of Article 8, Section 3, of the Idaho Constitution, in a principal amount of approximately $2,061,000, for wastewater system improvements and to pledge the City’s wastewater system revenues for the payment of such indebtedness for a term of years.

Interested persons are encouraged to attend the public hearing and to present comments. Comments may also be submitted to the City in writing prior to and at the hearing.

Tackling tomato troubles in the garden

Everywhere I go, I hear people talking about growing tomatoes. Sometimes I am the one being asked “What’s wrong with my tomato plants?” and other times, I might just overhear folks discussing their woes at the grocery store, the gym, or standing in line at the bank.

What are some of these common issues that “crop” up again and again in home-garden and small-farm tomatoes? What are the causes and, if any, solutions to these problems? Let’s talk about it.

The good news is that many tomato plant problems come down to water, weather, and care.

Moisture- and drought-related disorders like Blossom-End Rot happen just about every year in tomatoes as well as eggplants, peppers and squash. This is not a true “disease,” but rather a nutrient deficiency condition that causes the bottoms (or blossom end) of developing fruits to turn brown or black and rotten. We see this most often on Roma or paste-type tomatoes in early summer, partly because plant roots have trouble absorbing calcium when the soil is wet and cool (even if there is plenty of calcium in the soil!). Foliar calcium sprays may help, and so will the use of mulches to regulate the soil temperature and moisture levels. Remove those early affected fruit and experiment with different varieties if this problem continues to plague you.

Excess soil moisture, either through rain or irrigation, can cause tomato leaves to curl downward, resembling wilt disease. Often this curling is temporary; plants should recover and yield normally. Using mulches and watering deeply but less often is recommended. Some heirloom varieties seem to be especially susceptible to this leaf rolling.

Also, beware that splashing water, whether from rain or sprinklers, spreads bacterial and fungal blight and other diseases quickly through a garden, and often there is no cure. If you notice any spots on plant leaves, pick them off immediately and try to water without wetting the foliage, if possible. Not to sound like a broken record, but mulch will help keep down soil splashing.

What to use for mulch? Clean grass clippings (from lawns not treated with weedkillers), compost, chopped leaves, straw, even cardboard are commonly available mulches.

Mulch also helps reduce drastic fluctuations in soil moisture. Going from very wet to very dry soil conditions causes still more problems. Large tomatoes, especially heirloom varieties, are prone to cracking in this situation, especially when very high temperatures occur.

When temperatures climb, tomato plants often drop their blossoms before they can develop fruit. We’ve experienced many high heat days this summer, so be patient and hopefully you’ll still get fruit set if you lost blossoms.

Not seeing any blossoms at all? There are a few reasons why you may not be seeing tomatoes form on your plants:

- Do your plants have enough room in the garden? Plants with cramped roots or those that are being crowded in the garden bed often produce spindly foliage with few fruits.
- Are you providing too much nitrogen fertilizer and not enough phosphorus? Too much nitrogen results in healthy, leafy green foliage at the expense of flowers and fruit.
- Are your plants getting enough sunlight? Plants receiving less than eight hours of full sun are less likely to develop a hearty crop.
- Are birds, rodents, even dogs eating your tomatoes before you can get to them?

If you’ve ruled out all the causes above and you’re seeing distorted, twisty growth and stunted plants, you might be seeing herbicide damage from 2,4-D or Dicamba. You might also be seeing the impacts of a tomato disease like curly top virus. Plants that uniformly turn yellow, wilt completely, or that develop sunken brown or purple spots on the leaves or lesions on the stems may be suffering from one of the many bacterial or fungal diseases that can affect tomatoes. If this is the case, the best thing to do is to remove the affected plant or plants completely so that the disease does not spread and consider moving your tomatoes to another location in the garden next year, and to look for disease-resistant varieties. These diseases can be spread by wind, water, soil, and seed, depending on the causal organism, and could persist in your garden, so crop rotation, sanitation and resistant varieties are your best protection in the future.

Julie Truesdell

Julie Truesdell died August 17, 2022 surrounded by her family at home after a hard-fought battle with cancer. She was born June 5, 1936 to Homer and Edna Stevens in Spokane, Washington. Raised on a dryland wheat farm in Worley, Idaho, Julie graduated from Worley High School in 1954 followed by Nurses Training at Deaconess Hospital in Spokane.

After nurses training, Julie married James Truesdell on May 17, 1958 in Spokane, WA. Jim and Julie returned to Wilder, ID to the family farm and started their lives together farming and raising their three children Steve, Kim and Mike. In addition to taking care of their home and the children, Julie also served as the school nurse for Holmes Elementary in Wilder for 6 years. She enjoyed quilting and other types of fun sewing and crafting. She was also very involved in various social events, church and clubs including, Golden Gate Church, TOPS, the Red Hatters, and TSO.

Jim and Julie took several trips to Washington, D.C. and to Germany and Africa to visit Kim and Jeff. Later, Julie took three cruises after Jim died that took her from the Caribbean around South America and to Alaska.

Julie was preceded in death by her parents, Homer and Edna Stevens, her brother, Harold Stevens, and her husband, Jim.

She is survived by her children and their families, Steve and Carmen Truesdell, Kim and Jeff Miller, and Mike and Melissa Truesdell. Grandchildren Christine (Nick) Ketterling, Greg Truesdell, Lauren Miller, Mackenzie (Zac) Grubb, Shelby (Kyle) Abels, and Brad McCain. Great-Grandchildren, Matea, Remington, Bryson, Brooks, Bowey, and Julianne.

Celebration of Life will be held Friday, August 26 at 2:00 p.m. at Dakan Funeral Chapel in Caldwell. Graveside services in Wilder to follow. Donations can be made in Julie's name to the Wilder Public Library District, PO Box 128, Wilder, Idaho 83676. Condolences may be shared with the family at www.dakanfuneralchapel.com

Justin Hunter was among the 116 incoming medical students who received a white coat at Geisinger Commonwealth School of Medicine's 14th annual ceremony welcoming the Class of 2026.

During the ceremony in Scranton, Pa., the future doctors recited an oath acknowledging their responsibilities as future physicians and their obligations to future patients. Then they were cloaked with the white coat — the mantle of the medical profession. White coats were provided by The Stanley J. Dudrick, M.D., and Alan G. Goldstein Endowed Fund.

At the ceremony, Geisinger Commonwealth's president and dean, Julie Byerley, M.D., M.P.H., reminded the students that despite the pace of change and the wonders of new technology, "What needs to remain constant through, or even despite, all of this is your relationship with the patient."

Kelly Ann Camp

Kelly Ann Camp, 65, died unexpectedly Saturday August 13, 2022.

Kelly was born October 20, 1956, in Nampa, Idaho, to Dennis and JoAnn (Marker) Shenk. Being the eldest was a dubious task, but she was up for the challenge. Kelly's love and closeness with her siblings and parents was a lifelong devotion and set a standard to younger generations. Although the pain in her hips and knees (the result of living her life the way she pleased) was very debilitating for last several years, she prioritized and greatly enjoyed her weekly odyssey to Nyssa to visit her mother. She graduated from Crane High School in 1974 and soon met Jim Glancey. They were married in 1976 and their union was soon evidenced by two sons, Chris and Dave. The boys were her greatest pride, and she loved weekly dinners with them and their families. Divorced in 1998, Kelly married her longtime friend, Bob Camp, on Leap Day 2000 and became stepmom to Jessica, Drex, Eric, and Katie.

Kelly was an ineffable person. She will be remembered as the matriarch and social connector among many circles of the family and friends. She was an enthusiastic dessert connoisseur, a bibliophile, a playful and mischievous instigator of fun, and a generous, compassionate, stubborn, independent, and loyal daughter, sister, wife, aunt, cousin, mother, grandma, and friend.

Kelly was adventurous and loved to camp. The undeveloped campgrounds of Silver Creek were her Valhalla. Even as camping became more and more difficult, she never lost that zeal for huckleberry pancakes, campfires, and quality time in the woods with family. She was everybody's "Ma." You'd be hard-pressed to find a better listener, more skilled masseuse, or accepting soul. But you'd be taking your health into your own hands if you employed her surgical skills, cussed in her presence, or pressed her to do something contrary to what she wanted. Though her body gave out long before her spirit, Kelly, finally, is at rest. Please hold her close in your mind and soul. Remember the meaning of life as Kelly knew it and let us find and encourage within ourselves those gifts that make each of us special.

In lieu of flowers, please consider donating to your local library, yelling at inconsiderate campers, or doing some random act of kindness that sparks the Kelly in your heart.

Kelly is survived by her mother JoAnn, siblings Julie Camp, Kathy (John) Demshar, Mike (Sherri) Shenk, husband Bob, children Chris (Steph) Glancey, Dave (Jyl) Glancey, Jessie (Joey) Bunn, Drex Shira, Eric Shira, Katie (Don) Everson, mother-in-law Doris Camp, sister-in-law Diane, grandchildren Simon Shira, Sophie Glancey, Finn, Nora, Henry, and Donald, and numerous nephews and nieces whom she considered to be more of her children.

Kelly was preceded by her brother Thomas, niece Ada, brother-in-law Chris, father-in-law Cecil, and father Dennis.

An inurnment service at Morris Hill Cemetery will be conducted at a later date.

Homedale graduate among DAR scholarship finalists

A recent Homedale High School graduate has received high marks from the local Daughters of the American Revolution chapter.

Maribel Garcia finished third in the DAR Good Citizens Committee Scholarship Contest for the Idaho Pocahontas Chapter-Caldwell.

The National Society of the DAR awarded Garcia a personalized DAR pin, DAR Good Citizens Certificate and wallet card.

Garcia plans to get an Elementary Education degree and return to Homedale to teach.

During high school, Garcia was active in Future Hispanic Leaders of America, TRiO and National Honor Society.

Maribel Garcia

She volunteered extensively, including school fundraisers.

She learned patience and enjoyed meeting people working after school as a waitress.

Her hobbies include deep cleaning houses and going to yard sales. She buys small wood-working pieces and makes them over into something pretty.

The DAR scholarship essay topic was "Our American Heritage and Our Responsibility for Preserving It."

First-place winner, Parma graduate Brad Jeffrey Scott Bugher, received $50.

Vallivue grad Lizbeth Hernandez received a pin, Good Citizens Certificate and wallet card. She also received a $100 check as the Evelyn M. Williamson Memorial Award winner. Williamson was involved in the establishment of the Vallivue School District.

Ketterling settling in as new Adrian schools boss

Former Marsing, Homedale educator completes busy summer

by Malheur County Education Service District

The summer has been busy for Nicholas Ketterling. There has been fence to build on his family’s farm and evenings have involved helping his daughters prepare pigs for the upcoming fair season. Ketterling also left Marsing High School and started a new position on July 1 as the superintendent of the Adrian School District.

“Adrian has that smalltown feel that I have been looking for in my career,” Ketterling said. “I can’t wait to have the kids back in school.”

Ketterling has roots in small towns, growing up in Rupert and graduating from Minico High School. After attending Humboldt State University for one year, Ketterling returned to Idaho, graduating from Boise State University with degrees in Psychology and Secondary Education. His educational career continued at Northwest Nazarene University as he obtained a master’s and an education specialist degree.

He and wife, Christine, currently live on a family farm in Wilder with the couple’s two daughters.

Ketterling started his teaching career in Homedale before taking the position as principal in Marsing. When the position opened up in Adrian, Ketterling knew the time to advance to the other side of the state line was right.

“Adrian is just a beautiful place,” he said. “I wanted to work in a district where I knew every kid and I am able to build relationships with the students and the community.”

“The students in Adrian are not just a number, but (this is) a place where the entire staff take an interest in their success.”

The new job comes in an area well-known to the Ketterling family. His wife’s family has owned and ranched on land adjacent to Succor Creek for years and family gatherings are held along the creek each year.

Now just a few weeks into his new position, Ketterling is focused on learning more about his new district.

“I am here to build relationships this first year among the students, the families and the community,” he said. “I just want to be a big sponge and take it all in.”

One item on his agenda is a strategic three- to five-year plan for the district. The strategy will include educational goals, but also sets plans for facilities and staff.

“We need to know where we are going and how to get there,” he said.

School started Monday in the Adrian district.

Marsing graduate headed to D.C. meet after committee appointment

A Marsing High School graduate has moved up in the leadership ranks in a federal agency.

Carol Malmberg-Chadwick, who graduated from Marsing High in 1993, has been selected to serve as the Single-Family Housing Committee representative throughout Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Hawaii, and Alaska.

The National Association of Credit Specialists appointed Malmberg-Chadwick, who works out of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development Idaho office in Caldwell.

She is also the chapter president for the Idaho Rural Development Employee Association.

Malmberg-Chadwick is a 24-year federal employee, including 17 years with USDA RD.

She currently serves as area specialist in the Single-Family Housing Loan Programs.

That program gives families and individuals the opportunity to buy, build, or repair affordable homes located in rural areas. Eligibility for these loans, loan guarantees, and grants is based on income and varies according to the average median income for each area.

With her selection as committee representative, Malmberg-Chadwick will travel to Washington D.C. for the 2023 conference. She must also put forth extra effort to work on behalf of the association. Her service to the IRDEA is tasked with working on solutions for her fellow employees throughout Rural Development.

A native Idahoan, Malmberg-Chadwick and her husband Fred have three daughters.

The National Association of Credit Specialists is a professional organization of USDA-Farm Service Agency employees. The mission is to expand, improve and expedite USDA services, providing better delivery of Farm Loan Programs to farmers and ranchers around the United States.

Religious Expression
Only born-again have tools to perceive spiritual

by Jack Muldoon

How do we become born again? By repenting of our sin. That means we are willing to change our way of living. We pray to God, “I am a sinner, and I am sorry.” It’s simple and childlike. Then by faith we receive Jesus Christ as our Lord and Savior. We are willing to follow Him in a new life of obedience, in which the Holy Spirit helps us as we read the Bible and pray and witness. The new birth or regeneration is the act by which God imparts spiritual life to us who trusts Jesus Christ. Without this spiritual birth, a person cannot perceive spiritual things.

“Therefore if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold, all things have become new.”

— 2nd Corinthians 5:17

Jesus said,

“I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me.”

— John 14:6

For to accept His sacrifice we had to admit to our sin, that God’s penalty was just, and that restoration to fellowship with God could only come as a free gift of His grace through Christ’s death in our place. Pride has prevented that admission for multitudes and robbed them of God’s gracious forgiveness and the eternal life He gives.

“The fear of the Lord is to hate evil; Pride and arrogance and the evil way and the perverse mouth I hate.”

— Proverbs 8:13

There is only one true gospel. It offers eternal life as a free gift of God’s grace through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Truly believing that He died for our sins brings a new birth into God’s Family. That transformation brings us into loving submission to God’s sovereign will throughout all eternity — a new life that will never end.

Dear Jesus, help us remain faithful to You through our own trials and tribulations today. Fill us with compassion for the lost, that we might fearlessly make known the Gospel of Jesus Christ and bring others into the Family of God before the dark days to come.

— Jack Muldoon is a longtime Marsing resident who has been instrumental in the non-denominational prayer breakfast staged at the Nazarene church as well as the annual Marsing High School all-alumni picnic each August.

Jesus said, “most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.”

— John 3:3

It happens this way. First, we have to hear the Word of God:

“... having been born again, not of corruptible seed but incorruptible, through the Word of God which lives and abides forever,”

— 1st Peter 1:23

“Faith comes by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God.”

— Romans 10:17

And then there is the work of the Holy Spirit, He convicts:

“And when He has come, He will convict the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgement.”

— John 16:8

He changes us. He changes our wills, our affections, our objectives for living, our disposition. He gives us new purpose and new goals.

DYNAMIC (AND SUCCESSFUL) DEBUTS

HHS girls take down Emmett in return to pitch

Karlie Kildow scored two goals Friday as Homedale High School made a successful return to girls' soccer.

The Trojans beat Emmett, 4-1, in a non-conference game on the Huskies' field.

"All 22 rostered players got time on the field," coach Shelby Nicoletti said. "I'm really proud of the effort they put in."

Cadence Nicoletti's pass set up Kildow's second goal, while Morgan Nicoletti and Olivia Smith scored unassisted.

Goalkeeper Natalie Mercado had three saves in the first half and surrendered Emmett's only score. Sydney Davis stopped two Huskies shots in the second half.

"Our defense was strong with Cali Smith and Sydney Davis holding down the back line, and outside pressure on the flanks was brought by Katie DeVice and Carlie Moore," Shelby Nicoletti said.

Homedale's home debut came Tuesday after press time against Weiser.

Homedale opens revamped stadium with well-rounded victory

The boys from Laguna Beach are no strangers to aquatic life, but on Friday night they encountered a "Fish" for which they had no answers.

Homedale High School senior Trenton Fisher found the brand-new, bright-red Deward Bell Stadium end zone six times as the Trojans surfed past the Breakers for a 46-14 non-conference victory.

Marsing rebuild is a cultural, emotional project

McClellin puts players on long road to reconstruction

One sentence summed up Shea McClellin's ultimate mission at his alma mater.

The first-year Marsing High School football coach had just heard how polite his players were in interaction with the media.

"You have to build good men first, right?" he countered.

The Huskies rebuild has begun, and — even with new uniforms that were an early cosmetic priority for the 2007 Marsing graduate — the reconstruction will come from within.

So McClellin, the Super Bowl-winning former first-round NFL draft pick, went out and found a coaching staff to help him reach his long-term vision.

"I think, more than anything, I was looking for high-character individuals. I would say each coach is humble, intelligent and loves coaching football, and like me, they want to build something special," the former New England Patriots and Chicago Bears player said.

While he hasn't recruited any former college teammates, he does have Marsing grad Hudson Sauer serving as co-defensive coordinator (with Chris Ackerman) and running backs coach.

"(Sauer) was on the team that

Even with 7 returners, Huskies build volleyball experience

Coach looks forward to athletic squad's growth this season

There has been talk of redemption in Marsing High School's volleyball camp this fall.

"We have six girls returning from last year who were not satisfied with the results and are hungry to make a statement this year," fourth-year Huskies coach Amy Chadez said.

The majority of the core varsity players of seven athletes returns after finishing sixth in the 2A Western Idaho Conference last year and losing a 2A District III Tournament play-in match to Vision Charter from Caldwell.

The Huskies head into the season without Lexi Loucks, who graduated in the spring.

"She brought energy to our team, and we will miss her fire," Chadez said of the former setter, who accepted a scholarship to cheer at the University of Montana Western in Dillon, Mont.

A total of 11 players will comprise the varsity squad this season. Four other players will swing between the varsity and junior varsity squads, Chadez said.

More than half of the full-time varsity players are seniors:

• Mila Astorquia, outside hitter — "She is a consistent server, has a high volleyball IQ, and she is willing to leave it all on the court," Chadez said.

• Emily Vanosdall, OH —

"She is a consistent server, a quick and accurate defender, and she will out-work everyone on the court."

"We are expecting a lot of consistency and leadership got third in State, so like me he can relate to the kids and understands what it takes to win at Marsing,” McClellin said.

Ackerman will also tutor linebackers. Joe Peppley coaches the linemen with help from David Delihant.

“We want to be the best-tackling team you’ll see on Friday nights,” McClellin said. “Physical, tough and relentless is our motto.”

Kelly Wilson is the receivers and defensive backs coach.

And there are a ton of receivers and DBs to take care of, including first-year player Jonah Yonan. He’s a senior from Hope House who moved to the United States 12 years ago from his native Ethiopia.

But there may not be a ton of balls in the air even with returning quarterback Jordan Blas. The 5-foot, 9-inch, 145-pound senior is “the heart and soul of our team,” McClellin says, but the coach also points out the fast and athletic senior “just needs to find a way to stay healthy.”

With that, fans are likely to see a smash-mouth game reminiscent of the Don Heller days when a converted tight end named McClellin played like a man-child at fullback.

“(The offense will be) one that’ll grind you down ’til you quit,” McClellin said. “We’re looking to have 15- to 20-play drives to wear the defense down and make them eventually just give up.

“We are (a) multiple-type offense that will look different depending on the gameplay each week.”

The bruising offense will feature returning players Cache Hance at running back and Luke Steinmeyer at tight end and wide receiver. The sophomores will also see defensive snaps at linebacker (Hance) and defensive back (Steinmeyer).

Hance is 5-9, 180 pounds.

“He’s gonna be our workhorse,” McClellin said. “(He’s a) stout runner with great vision (and) will be a go-to guy on offense.

“Defensively, same thing. We’ll look for him to make big, explosive plays.”

Steinmeyer is 6-2, 190.

“(He’s) another guy that is a quiet leader. This guy can do it all for us,” McClellin said. “We’ll plug him in wherever we need him on offense and defense.

McClellin calls Braeden Davis (5-11, 140, sr., DB/WR) a “ball hawk and great leader.”

Fitness is a big part of the plan with 28 players out for the team. That part of the mission — and really the coach’s philosophical and cultural foundation — started days after McClellin swapped Cole Valley blue and white for old familiar Marsing blue and gold in December.

“We’ve been trying to do a little bit of everything to be honest: new uniforms, decals, awards for off-season lifting program (Top Dawg award),” McClellin said. “Really, I just want these kids to have fun.

“Times are different, though. Kids just don’t want to play unless you’re a winning program, so I think ultimately that’s the thing that will ignite the program the most. We need to find a way to get some victories.”

Building a program starts with younger players:

Bentley McIntyre (6-0, 245, jr., OL/DL) is “a hard-nosed lineman that is the leader of the line.”

Mason Enochson (5-8, 155, so., WR/DB) could turn heads.

“(Enochson is) probably one of the most athletic athletes Marsing has ever seen,” McClellin said. “This guy is fast and could be a key factor for us this year on both sides of the ball. Lightning in a bottle.”

The new players, including freshmen successful in middle school, are only tangentially familiar with the losing.

But every player will have a learning curve, even those returning from last season’s squad that won its season opener, 48-6, over Valley then scored only one touchdown while losing its remaining seven games.

It was the latest round of disappointment in a stretch of seasons that always seem to start with promise.

The Huskies have won four of their past five season openers, including the past three.

But Marsing football has just six victories since its last winning season (5-3) in 2013. Sauer played for the 2012 team that went 9-2 and lost, 36-0, in the 2A state semifinals to Declo.

Futility took up residence in the program with a 24-game losing streak comprising winless seasons from 2014 to 2016.

The creeping pessimism on campus is something McClellin is fully aware he has to meet head-on.

“I believe numbers have gone up, but not by much,” he said of participation.

“I will say this, When I came in here, I set the expectations and standards of the program pretty high, and quite honestly, I think that scared a good amount of kids away from playing this year. Which is fine because I want kids that aren’t scared to win and that want to work hard and do what it takes to win football games.

“And maybe that won’t happen right away, but it will eventually happen and when it does more kids will come out. But right now, I’m focused on the kids that are here putting in the work to get better.” — JPB

This sign, just across the bridge from Marsing, announces that the Marsing Jetsprint Park will soon be open.

Sprint boats prepare to race new Marsing course

Sprint boats have been racing in New Zealand and Australia for 15 years now, but you don’t have to travel across the world to watch these boats race. A sprint boat course is scheduled to open for its first race on September 13, in Marsing.

The Australian and New Zealand sprint boat races are televised and have acquired quite a large following of race fans, and Marsing hopes to do the same with their recently built course. Australia has ten permanent courses and New Zealand currently has two. There are no courses in the U.S., the Marsing track will be the first.

“The Marsing track is actually patterned after an Australian style course that a U.S. team raced on last winter,” said Bob Aldrich, a five-year veteran of sprint boat racing. “Their designer, Jeremy O’Driscoll, has actually been to Marsing a couple times helping. He’s really the brain-child behind the course, and he’ll help us out a lot.”

Until now, U.S. sprint boat racers have raced on buoy courses on public waterways in Marsing and Middleton, Oregon, Nevada and Washington. The Marsing course will be the first privately owned, closed-circuit dug course available to the racers in the U.S., said Aldrich.

Christian Church welcomes two new pastors

The Homedale Christian Church has two new additions to its congregation. Pastors Greg and Bev Biggers have accepted the positions as pastors.

Greg and Bev are native to the Nampa area. Both graduated from Northwest Christian College in Eugene, Oregon. Greg retired from the U.S. Air Force and Beverly is employed at LifeTouch Studios in Boise as a photographer.

Two brothers compete in pentathlon

Matt and Lee Vander Boegh of Homedale competed in the Caldwell pentathlon on August 9-10. Matt is 17 years old and received seventh place and Lee, 19 years old, received eighth.

The pentathlon consists of 800 meters of freestyle swimming and the butterfly, breast, and backstrokes. It was sponsored by the Caldwell Swim Team and held at the Caldwell City Pool, where the brothers are employed as lifeguards.

Matt and Lee are the sons of Barbie and Don Vander Boegh of Homedale.

Mayors’ Brunch entertains area dignitaries

In conjunction with the annual Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo and Chamber of Commerce Barbecue, Mayor George T. Murray, wife Norma and Kim hosted the Treasure Valley Mayors.

Attending were Mayor and Mrs. C. L. Anderson, Fruitland; Mayor and Mrs. Ernie Starr, Nampa; Mayor and Mrs. Wesley Roehr, Payette; Mayor and Mrs. Jay Amyx, Boise; Mayor Paul Gilmore, New Plymouth; Council President Leonard Cates, and Mrs. Cates, Ontario; and Mayor Charles Carpenter, Caldwell.

Other special guests were Sen. and Mrs. Walt Yarbrough; Ed Simmerman, President of Assn. of Idaho Cities, former Notus Mayor, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dean; and former Homedale Mayor Joe Eiguren and son Roy.

Council members and wives from Homedale attending were Kenneth Metzger, Allen Blessing and Jay Jackson.

The barbecue, furnished by the Chamber of Commerce, was enjoyed by all those present, and all expressed their appreciation to the members. Helping with the brunch and dinner were clerk Joyce Blackman, Barbara Simon, Darlene Metzger, Bunny Blessing and Lydia Duncan.

Following the brunch, the 116th Armored Cavalry Division of the Idaho National Guard, under Sgt. James Followell, Homedale Armory, furnished jeeps and drivers for the dignitaries and drove them in the parade.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.—Our devil attended the picnic at Ruby the other day and promised to report proceedings. Upon his return, instead of giving us a detailed account of the affair, he rushed headlong into the office, exclaiming, “Blue! blue! blue!” which he reiterated several times with a sigh as he gasped for breath. For a long time he remained silent, except at intervals, as he looked out into the twilight, moved his lips and uttered that mournful “blue.” We became somewhat alarmed, and thought him insane. At length, some one skilled in such matters suggested that Cupid might have had something to do with the poor “devil,” and that he might be love-stricken. Whereupon we questioned him about pretty girls’ blue eyes, blue ribbons, blue stockings, &c., and obtained the following disconnected narrative:

Our Romeo went to the picnic — was a convert to “love at first sight” — had become violently in love with a young lady dressed in blue! — thought she was beautiful as an angel — that there is no color so beautiful as blue — was unable to learn her name, or whence she cometh or whither she goeth; therefore is disconsolate. We sent him to a store for a bottle of red ink for ruling; the lunatic brought us blue ink! Sad case!

THE recent Indian affair in Jordan Valley demonstrates the need of a volunteer Cavalry Company in that place. We would counsel and urge our Jordan Valley friends to organize such a Company, even if not more than ten men. They should be armed with Spencer or Henry rifles, and be compelled to keep a good saddle horse up all the time. If such a Company were promptly informed of Indian depredations, with a few moments’ warning they could start on the robbers’ trail, and nine times out of ten they could overtake them within twelve hours.

Some such arrangement as this would conduce greatly to personal safety in the valley, and oftentimes save a great loss of property.

CAMP THREE FORKS, OWYHEES,
August 15, 1867.

EDS. AVALANCHE: According to promise I am very happy to report to you the late Indian fight of Colonel J. J. Coppinger, Twenty-third Vol. Infy. The Colonel left Camp Three Forks, Owyhee, on the 12th instant. After traveling down the creek Camp Three Forks is situated on some ten miles, he came in contact with a small band of Indians. The Indian scouts estimated them at from eight to ten in number. Notwithstanding the wild horses, the Colonel’s command was prompted to; he made a fine charge; rocks and sagebrush were not known. After running the Indians some five or six miles, to the main rivers of Owyhee, where they took water, there was not an Indian seen to come out on the opposite side; they are supposed to have all been killed. The Colonel then went to Camp Three Forks, arriving at the Forks on the 14th, and sent out the Indian scouts soon after camping. At 3 o’clock the Indians returned and reported a camp some twelve miles from the Forks. At 3½ o’clock the command moved out, and at 2 o’clock on the night of the 14th they made a complete surprise, killing the whole camp, supposed to be from 18 to 20 except 2 prisoners, who are now in camp, and destroying a large quantity of dried fish, etc. The prisoners give information of four more camps, which the Colonel will, most likely, destroy to-night.

Access Owyhee

Let’s work together for better internet

Our little corner of southwestern Idaho is a great place to live for many reasons. We may not have all of the amenities that larger communities have, but we choose to live here because of the capability to live in communities that support each other. We pride ourselves on working hard and providing for our families.

We do this by ranching, farming, owning small businesses, and more.

However, if there was one thing the COVID-19 pandemic taught us, our broadband infrastructure is nowhere near what it should be. Our poor internet access affects our abilities to educate our children, provide access to telehealth services, and operate our businesses. That’s why Owyhee County is partnering with Imagine Idaho Foundation. This Idaho-based nonprofit works with rural communities to get grant funding for broadband infrastructure projects.

Unprecedented funding for broadband projects is on the horizon. We need everyone’s help to ensure Owyhee County gets what it deserves. We are conducting an internet speed-testing campaign with Imagine Idaho to ensure this happens.

The campaign is underway and ends on Sept. 15. Please take the time to participate at www.imagineidaho.org/speed-test and promote it to your friends and families so we can get as much funding as possible. It takes less than two minutes to complete, and your participation will help Owyhee County residents access better internet service. It will improve precision agriculture capabilities, and our E911 capabilities for emergencies, among other things, in the most remote corners of the county.

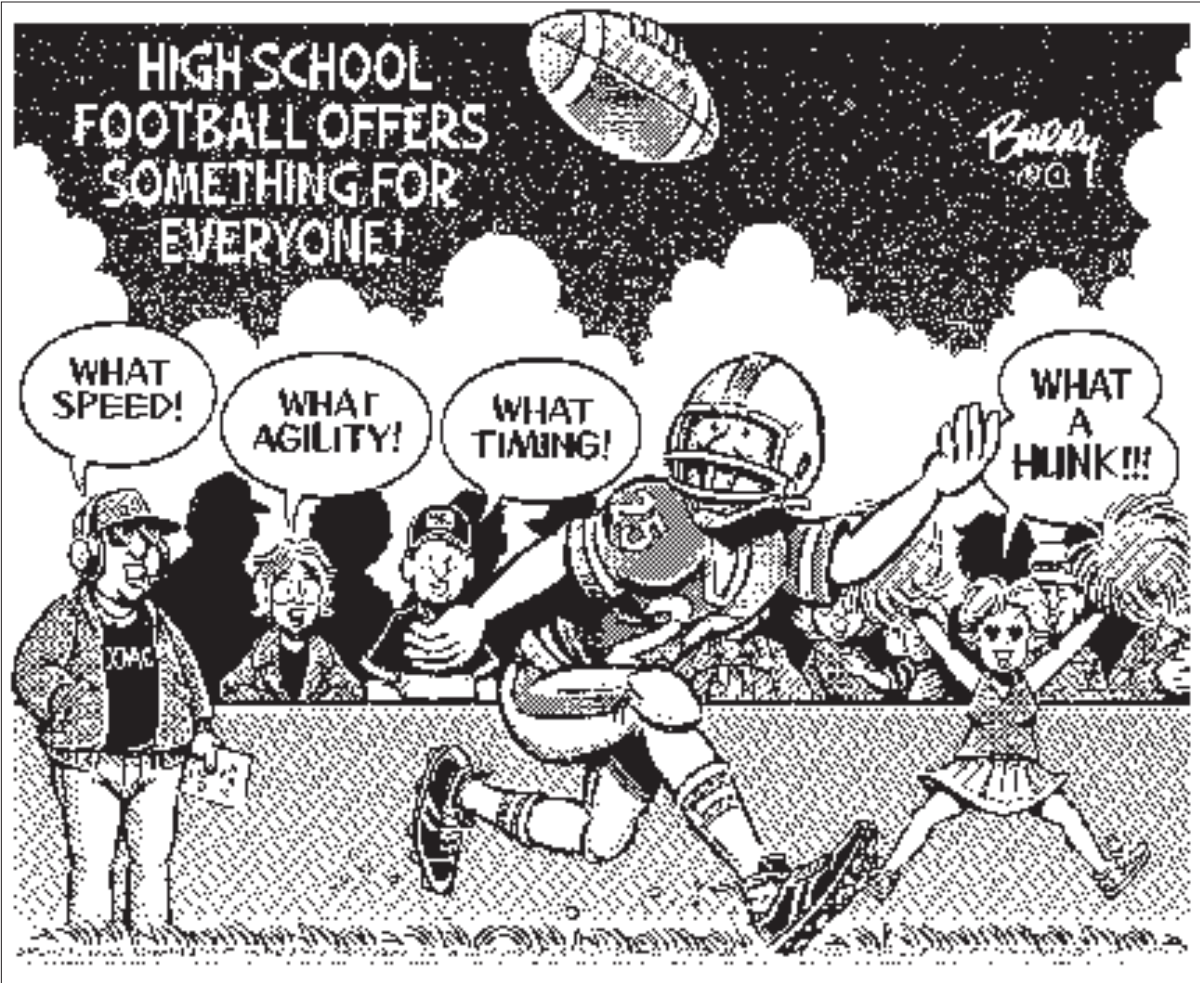

We are also looking for passionate community members to join us in this process. Please contact me at abarkell@co.owyhee.id.us if you or your business would like to volunteer to help us make our vision a reality. We cannot do this without the support of the generous people who make up our community.

A great orator from 150 years ago, uttered wise words that ring especially true during this political season:

- You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
- You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
- You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
- You cannot lift the wage earner up by pulling the wage payer down.
- You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
- You cannot build character and courage by taking away men’s initiative and independence.
- You cannot help men permanently by doing for them, what they could and should do for themselves.

From Washington Strengthening our global alliances, strengthening our national security

Former President Ronald Reagan said, “Strength is the most persuasive argument we have to convince our adversaries to negotiate seriously and to cease bullying other nations.” One of the ways we show strength is by solidifying our alliances with other countries with similar world objectives. With my support, the Senate recently overwhelmingly ratified the accession of Finland and Sweden into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) by a vote 95-1-1, enabling these two countries to become NATO members. This is an important step in reinforcing our countries’ alliances and countering Russian aggression, including the invasion of Ukraine, and other international threats.

On May 18, Finland and Sweden applied concurrently to become NATO members. The membership process involves several rounds of discussions between the aspiring member and NATO representatives. Each NATO ally must ratify the prospective member’s accession protocols according to its own political processes, after which the NATO Secretary General officially invites the nation to join NATO. Other NATO allies, including Canada, Norway, Poland and Germany have already ratified the NATO memberships of Sweden and Finland.

NATO was formed in the aftermath of World War II to preserve peace in Europe and protect democratic nations from potential attacks by the Soviet Union. The addition of Sweden and Finland will grow NATO to 32 countries in Europe and North America that coordinate forces, development of defense capabilities and security efforts in the transatlantic

Financial management

For most, inexpensive will all that’s needed for peace of mind

DAVE Says
by Dave Ramsey • www.davesays.org

Dear Dave,
How do you know if a will or a trust is best for you?
— Monica

Dear Monica,
This is a great question, especially since August is National Make-a-Will Month. The first thing you should do is take a serious look at your needs, your wishes and your overall life and financial circumstances.
If you’re like the average person with a couple of kids, a home and some savings, a will is all you need. There’s no reason to bring lawyers into the mix, unless there’s something complicated about your situation. In cases like this, you can even set one up online that’s perfectly legal in just a few minutes.

If you’re older, your kids are grown and your estate is worth $1 million or more, a trust is the way to go. By doing this, you can avoid probate in a way that wills don’t allow. Now, if you have a large estate and dependents, having both a will and a trust is a good idea. And you don’t have to worry about the two bumping into each other. They’re separate legal instruments, and there’s generally no conflict between them. If there is a legitimate, legal conflict between them, the trust usually overrides the will.

Simply put, everyone needs a will. But not everyone needs a trust. Trusts can be more than you need, but they can also be a great tool if you have a larger estate. So, if you’re in the vast majority of folks who don’t need a trust, just get yourself a will. You’ll spend a lot less money and feel so much better knowing your stuff will go to the right people — and that your family will be taken care of!

✓ Alliances: Sweden, Finland in NATO a crucial counterpoint to Russia

States after Sept. 11, 2001, we stand ready to assist them now as they face increasing acts of aggression from Putin’s Russia and its proxies. . . . The transatlantic alliance has never been more crucial to global security and stability. The addition of these two important allies to NATO will ensure the alliance’s resilience and readiness, and we look forward to welcoming Sweden and Finland to NATO.”
U.S. Senate Republican Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) pointed out in a speech before the Senate that, “Both countries already participate in NATO and American-led missions. Finland already meets NATO’s 2 percent spending target, and Sweden is making significant investments in modernizing its military. Even with the capabilities these militaries already have, they will bring real, meaningful, interoperable military capabilities into the alliance on Day One and improve burden-sharing across the alliance.”

In this evolving security landscape, effectively countering U.S. enemies will take a deliberative and collaborative response. It is crucial that the U.S. not allow Russian aggression to go unchecked, both for our security and the security of our allies. Vladimir Putin’s horrific aggression toward the people of Ukraine threatens regional and international security. I continue to maintain that our respect for the extraordinary resolve, resourcefulness and determination of the Ukrainian people must be backed by strong American policies.

As we continue to work to crush any underpinnings of Putin’s awful agenda, the inclusion of Sweden and Finland into the NATO alliance will improve our individual and collective security. I will continue to advocate for foreign policies that protect the security and sovereignty of the U.S. and its allies while also protecting our country from unnecessary and dangerous engagements.

HHS volleyball will have competition in practice, matches

Coach copes with luxuries of depth, versatility

Entering her second year at the helm, Heidi Nash is working with a roster of volleyball players who know how to win in other venues.

And, the Homedale High School squad may be on the cusp of figuring out how to win on their new court, too.

The competitive fire some girls stoked with success of the softball diamond — another state championship last year — could get something cooking in the fall.

“We have more depth in our front row and have a lot of players this year who can put the ball away. They are going to be putting a lot of pressure on one another to establish positions and playing time,” Nash said.

At least five players who begin the volleyball season at home with a tri-match Thursday contributed greatly to the softball team’s run to another title in May.

And, Nash said, last year’s volleyball squad began to peak at the right time, too.

“We worked really hard last year to build volleyball IQ and establish better foundational skills and technique,” she said. “We saw continued improvement over the course of the season.”

The Trojans wound up 5-15, but were rolling along at the tail-end of the season after absorbing information from Nash, who is a veteran of the Homedale program despite her “relative newcomer” status at the top of the flow chart.

And the team showed significant improvement during the 2021 journey.

“We were a game away from a play-in berth to State. We lost to McCall the first time we played them in the season and came back and beat them the second time in season and then again (in the 3A District III tournament),” Nash said.

“Over the summer we looked like we picked up where we left off and have been building from there. It was exciting to see us play at a whole new level this summer compared to last summer.”

The Trojans’ coaching staff includes varsity assistant Erica Dines, and junior varsity staff is comprised of two recent former standout players — Sophie Nash in the lead chair, and Gracie Dines as an assistant. Kaylee Brown (head coach) and Keri Brown (assistant) lead the frosh-soph squad.

The team lost three seniors to graduation, all of whom were vital to the Trojans’ overall athletic success, including middle blocker Laney Swallow, and defensive specialists Belisia Larzelier and Amaia Aberasturi.

Three seniors are back for their final go-round, including setter Kaylee Blankenship, Katie Christoffersen (pin hitter, defensive specialist), and Jacy Parker (middle blocker).

The 5-foot, 10-inch Parker comes back as a solid leader brimming with motivation. She’s a three-year varsity starter who earned second-team All-3A Snake River Valley conference honors last season.

“She dominates at the net and is a physically strong and aggressive player. She’s a passionate and competitive player, and she has the mentality of a middle blocker,” Nash said.

“Jacy is wanting to play college volleyball, and we are expecting big things out of her

this year.”

Christoffersen (5-7, outside hitter) is a three-year varsity player coming off an All-3A SRV honorable mention campaign.

“She’s very quick and athletic and is a great hitter as well as defensive player,” Nash said. “She makes good decisions and is an offensive threat.”

The 5-6 Blankenship is a first-year varsity player who will serve as a setter.

“She’s a leader and does a really good job of communicating with her hitters and keeping the team encouraged and up,” Nash said. “Her leadership skills are going to be vital to our team this year.”

The upperclassmen are just the start of the Trojans’ resources, and that means battles for playing time.

“There’s a lot of talent and versatility on this team. It’s going to be interesting to see how things shake out, and who ends up where,” Nash said.

“I have a lot of different scenarios in my head, several possibilities, and we will just have to see what lineup and systems work best for the team overall. We have a lot of options, and that’s a great place to be.”

The Trojans could be set up for success down the line, too, with juniors comprising the bulk of the returning athletes.

- Olivia Asumendi (5-7) is a versatile third-year varsity player who plays outside hitter, setter and defensive specialist.
- “She’s an extremely strong, athletic player. She has great court sense and the ability to play several positions, which makes her a huge asset in all parts of the game, and someone you want on the floor,” Nash said.
- Zayne Hall (5-9 middle blocker and right side hitter) was an all-conference honorable mention last season known for her athleticism and versatility.

“She’s competed at a high level in a variety of sports — softball and rodeo — and handles pressure really well,” Nash said. “She worked really hard last year on specific skills, and had to step in as a middle blocker when we had an injury on the team.

“Her ability to adapt and be competitive is going to really help us out this year. We’re excited to see the continued growth in her this year.”

The other juniors are all facing their first varsity seasons:

- Kinsey Blankenship (5-8, PH, S) — “Kinsey is a dynamic hitter and setter. She’s going to bring a lot of versatility to the team,” Nash said.
- Kinsey is the younger sibling of Kaylee.
- “The Blankenship sisters are savvy club volleyball players, and we are excited to have them join the varsity team this year,” Nash said.
- Kinlee Garrett (5-8, PH, MB) — “Kinlee played some games with varsity last year as a swing player from JV. We’re excited to see Kinlee continue to grow as a varsity player,” Nash said.
- “She has an amazing vertical and a long reach. It’s going to be fun to see what she can do as a hitter and blocker this season.”
- Lexie Heck (DS) — “We are excited about Lexie’s serve receive and defensive ability,” the coach said. “She’s got a deceptive serve and went on several runs this summer that really helped us secure matches. She’s a determined player who reads the ball well.”
- Isana Larzelier (DS) — “Isana is scrappy and athletic — a quick defender with great reading ability,” Nash said. “She has a tough serve that takes the opponent out of system.”

- Mylisa Barrett (5-7, RS) — “Mylisa worked really hard this summer. She continues to improve offensively and defensively,” Nash said. “She’s a tough server, and she goes after everything defensively. She’s very coachable, and we’re looking forward to her growth at the varsity level.”
- Melani Whitehead (5-9, RS, DS) — “Melani is a competitive, coachable athlete. She’s strong on serve receive and a quick defender and is also a threat at the net,” Nash said.

One sophomore, a transfer from Ridgevue in Nampa last year, rounds out the varsity roster:

- Halle King (5-6, DS and libero) — “She’s got great energy on the court and is a natural leader,” Nash said. “She’s versatile and athletic, and we are excited to have her join us this season.”

While the team grew into contention last season, the 2022 campaign is front-loaded with challenge.

“We have some grueling weeks in our schedule toward the end of September, so staying mentally focused and physically healthy will be critical to our success, but it will also serve to prepare us well for postseason play,” Nash said.

The coach is expecting the team to remain in the mix in the tough 3A SRV, too.

“Everyone has lost some key players this year, but everyone always seems to be able to reload with new talent,” she said.

“I expect us to compete tough in the SRV this year and give everyone a run for their money.”

✓ Volleyball: Coach hopes self-motivated veterans can push teammates from Mila Astorquia and Emily Vanosdall,” Chadez said. “They have a lot of varsity playing experience and can help our younger players adapt to the varsity level with their guidance.”

- Llee Loucks, middle blocker — “We are looking forward to seeing her give us an advantage defensively with her ability to block.”

- Anna Gluch, right side hitter — “(She) will provide a good block and strong right-hand swing.”

Three others are sophomores, including the daughter of new high school principal Sean Porter, who transferred from Idaho City:

- Lily Thoene, setter/RS — “She is a tall and athletic setter who will help lead our offensive attack.”

- Raylynn Vanosdall, defensive specialist/libero — “(She) will return as a key defender for us. We are expecting Raylynn to lead us defensively with her speed and accuracy passing.”
- Ashlyn Porter, setter — “Ashlyn is new this year, and we are excited to have her consistent set and to watch her grow as a young setter and leader on our team.”

Three freshmen — Adyson Chadez, Bailey Daugherty, and Brooklyn Roadenbaugh — will share duties as the team’s opposite hitter and middle blocker.

“We are excited for the potential they bring as they all three are athletic as attackers, blockers, and passers,” Amy Chadez said.

The coach acknowledges the team will be building experience during the season.

“We have an athletic group this year, and we are looking forward to having a defense that can block and knock down balls at the net,” Chadez said.

“I am excited to see the growth these younger players make over the course of the season, and how our veteran players lead and push themselves.”

Homedale’s new artificial turf was all too real for Laguna Beach, which flew from Southern California for a unique matchup to help christen the Trojans’ revamped stadium.

A packed house heard Fisher’s name called numerous times from the new press box. He gleamed under the new stadium lights, running for 153 yards as the Trojans ran past Laguna Beach in a display of speed and grace worthy of the stadium’s new all-weather track.

Senior quarterback Jaxon Dines was perfect through the air, passing for 160 yards while completing all 12 of his throws.

The Trojans scored six touchdowns in between the Breakers’ two scores.

Laguna Beach marched 94 yards on its first 11 plays to tie the score, 7-7, on starting quarterback Sam Garwal’s 19-yard pass to Jackson Rodriguez. The Breakers’ other touchdown came on Nick Rogers’ 62-yard run on the ensuing play after Fisher’s final TD of the game.

In between, the Trojans’ flashed a stout defense — again.

The Breakers managed only 81 net yards in the seven possessions between their touchdowns. The team had just one net yard in the second half before its 62-yard scoring drive.

Laguna Beach drove 59 yards to end the second quarter, getting to the Trojans’ 15-yard line on Ethan Das’ 24-yard pass to Ryner Swanson. Das had relieved Garwal behind center in the second quarter.

But Homedale’s defense stiffened, causing four consecutive incomplete passes to end the threat at the halftime buzzer.

Laguna Beach managed no yardage in its first two possessions after taking the second-half kickoff, but the Trojans continued their offensive onslaught.

Homedale found the end zone the first seven times with the ball. The only things to stop the Trojans were the Laguna Beach defense with backup quarterback Dillon Fine at the helm and the final buzzer.

But nothing could stop Fisher and Dines.

Fisher, only the third player to start at primary back in the past four seasons for the Trojans, carried the ball 17 times and never lost a yard. He found pay dirt on a 21-yard run to open his scoring night, and put the ball in the end zone with his longest run of the game — 32 yards — to put Homedale back out in front, 14-7, later in the opening period.

Scoring runs of four and six yards followed as Homedale built a 20-point lead at halftime (27-7).

Fisher completed his touchdown barrage with short runs of eight and nine yards in the second half.

In between those scoring jaunts, Dines found Oklin Carson for a 21-yard touchdown pass.

Dines and Fisher were responsible for 18 of the Trojans’ 29 first downs. Homedale racked up 439 yards total offense.

Carson made three catches for a team-best 60 yards. Senior wideout Mason Strong brought in five passes for 50 yards, while Danny Lomeli caught a pair of passes (both for first downs) for 30 yards.

D’Orr Packer, tabbed as one of the state’s top linebackers this season, posted one of the Trojans’ three quarterback sacks. Defensive lineman Omar Rios had 1.5 sacks, including a solo tackle on Garwal for a seven-yard loss in the first quarter.

Chase Cooper emerged as Homedale’s top tackler with eight stops, including three solo tackles. Among his five assists was a half-sack while teaming up with Rios.
