New Stars and Stripes for the Fourth

Casey Christoffersen takes to a man-lift to adjust a newly installed American flag at the SMX, Inc., transportation company north of Homedale on U.S. Highway 95. Christoffersen, his brother Jason and their father and Homedale Mayor Gheen Christoffersen, who owns SMX, worked to get the new 30-foot flagpole and 6-foot-by-10-foot flag installed before the Fourth of July. Also planned is a brass eagle figurine atop the flagpole and a light.

Fentanyl awareness event set in Marsing

OCSO reports two more ODs, one death

Law enforcement personnel will be on hand for a fentanyl awareness town hall meeting later this month.

“This upcoming town hall in Marsing on the 18th can’t come soon enough,” Owyhee County Sheriff Larry Kendrick said.

According to the event flier, Kendrick is presenting the town hall, which will feature Idaho State Police Capt. John Camp with Southwest District Health, Marsing Ambulance and Marsing Fire officials in attendance.

The town hall takes place at 6 p.m., on Tuesday, July 18 inside the Phipps-Watson Marsing American Legion Post 128 Community Center, 126 W. 2nd St. N.

The urgency of the issue made itself known again recently when a 33-year-old male died after being rushed to the hospital after suffering a fentanyl overdose.

Kendrick said the man was revived when sheriff’s deputies administered Narcan during the call on June 24. But the man later died at a Caldwell

Marsing schools could charge for facility use, preschool

Public hearing scheduled next Wednesday

The Marsing School District hasn’t been able to obtain a new grant, so the Husky Pups Preschool could have a tuition beginning next school year.

The Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing to receive input on proposed fee increases, including a $100 monthly tuition for the preschool and rental fees when non-school district organizations use the certain facilities.

The public hearing is scheduled for 6:55 p.m., next Wednesday inside the trustee boardroom at The HUB, 205 8th Ave. W. The regular meeting usually begins at 7 p.m., on the second Wednesday of each month.

The Husky Pups Preschool has been operated using grant funds since its inception, but school district superintendent Norm Stewart said the money is not guaranteed and has time limits.

With no new grants coming in, the trustees came up with a plan.

County fair youth entry window winds down

Camp spots at a premium; no sewer or water

There are a few days left for local 4-H and FFA members to enter the Owyhee County Fair.

The month-long entry window began June 15. The last day to complete entries is July 15.

Youth planning to exhibit at the Aug. 7-12 fair in Homedale can enter online at <https://owyhee.fairwire.com>

Call the University of Idaho Owyhee County Extension Office in Marsing at (208) 896-4104 for assistance or get questions answered.

Camper applications for fair week have been accepted since June 1. There is limited space.

The $100 spaces are designated for county residents who travel the greatest distance to the fairgrounds, according to the 2023 application form.

The form also said that beginning last Saturday remaining spots would be given to attendees living closer to the facility. But because of limited space, no Homedale residents will be allowed to camp.

There will be no parking allowed on the rodeo side of the grounds, and attendees are asked to not leave livestock trailers at the fairgrounds because of limited space. Only one vehicle will be allowed per camping spot.

No dry camping will be allowed, and a note on the application form warns campers that “due to some small issues” no water or sewer hookups are available this year.

Campers will be able to set up after noon on Sunday, Aug. 6, and all campers must be in place by noon on Wednesday, Aug. 9.

Call (208) 337-3888 for more information.

Marsing Lions remember late colleagues

Marsing Lions Club members stand next to a Sensation maple planted at Island Park in memory of local Lions who have passed away. The tree, donated by Nathan Melad of Nampa’s Melad Tree Farm, and sign were dedicated Friday at a spot provided by the City of Marsing. Among Lions who have recently passed away are Bob Malmberg, Roman Usabel, and Deb Holzhey. From left: Lions president Jason Sevy, past president and 2023 secretary Debbie Carter, Jolyn Thompson, Judy Malmberg, 2022 secretary Mike Spinkel, dedication tree project manager Sharon VanWassenhove, Scott Ferlisi, and David VanWassenhove.

Idaho 78 spared in latest Murphy-area flash flood

More rain in the Murphy area brought a flash flood through the county seat on June 27.

A swollen Rabbit Creek inundated Basey Street below the townsite, making the roadway impassable.

Owyhee County Sheriff Larry Kendrick said in the late afternoon that crews were close to getting the road opened again.

“Basey/Old Highway 45 ...

always washes out when the creek is full,” Kendrick said. “(The county road crews) just bring a loader full of road mix and fill it back in each time.”

The sheriff added that there was no repeat of the flooding that closed Idaho highway 78 earlier in June.

“They cleaned out the culverts and 78 didn’t flood,” Kendrick said.

Plenty of offerings at Homedale Sr. Center

New coordinator rounding up help, cash for Buckaroo Breakfast

The Homedale Senior Center’s expanded services to the community include massage service on the final Wednesday of each month.

A 15-minute massage costs $15, and massage are next available on July 26 at the center, 224 W. Idaho Ave.

Appointments are necessary, so call the senior center at (208) 337-3020.

The senior center is open from 8 a.m., to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday each week. Coongregate meals are served at noon.

Center coordinator Melissa Sorlien put out the call for assistance at a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting, and community members have responded.

On June 26, four volunteers descended upon the senior center and carried out a service project.

Bishop Lamar Lewis and his wife Favann from the Young Single Adults out of Caldwell, and missionary service couple Morris and Naomi Brown teamed up with youth from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

“They power-washed our building, took inventory and organized my medical equipment shed as well as weeded the entire property and mowed the side yard,” Sorlien said.

“Thank you to everyone and all of the youth, and thank you to Keith Richardson for donating the power washer.”

With the annual Buckaroo Breakfast on the horizon during Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo week, Sorlien is banking on the community spirit to continue.

Breakfast will be served each morning from Tuesday, Aug. 8 to Saturday, Aug. 12 in the senior center parking lot.

The breakfast has been the largest annual fundraiser for the senior center for many years.

Sorlien encourages community members to provide money to help purchase breakfast items. She’s also enlisting folks to help with the various aspects of putting on the meal.

“Your contribution will not only help us meet our fundraising goals but will also make a significant difference in the lives of those who benefit from our program,”

Sorlien wrote in a letter she plans to send to prospective benefactors.

Checks can be mailed to the Homedale Senior Center, P.O. Box 848, Homedale, ID 83628, folks can drop off their donations at the senior center between 8 a.m., and 1 p.m., each week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

For more information the senior center’s needs, contact Sorlien by email at homedalesrctr04@gmail.com or by calling (208) 695-8040.

Undoubtedly more Buckaroo Breakfast planning will be on the agenda for the next senior center board of directors meeting, scheduled for 1:30 p.m., on Tuesday. The meeting is open to the public.

Bingo starts at 10 a.m., each Wednesday. Players can compete for special prizes, including pies and trinkets.

The monthly foot clinic will be held on Tuesday, July 18. Foot examinations cost $25, and ear cleanings are available for $30. The slots are on a first-come, first-served basis.

The Prime Time Swingers will play live music from 11 a.m., to noon on Tuesday, July 27. The senior center calls the tunes the band plays “hand-clappin’, knee-slappin’, make-you-want-to-jump-up-and-dance kind of music.”

A Fit and Fall class is offered from 10:30 a.m., to 11:30 a.m., each Tuesday and Thursday.

Marsing's Jack Muldoon celebrates his 90th

Jack Muldoon and Shanty, 2010

Longtime Owyhee County resident Jack Muldoon turns 90 on Saturday, July 8, 2023.

The 1951 Marsing High School graduate has dedicated his life to civic service in Marsing and beyond.

Most notably, he carried out a 30-year Christian ministry to Idaho Department of Correction inmates. Muldoon also was instrumental in establishing a monthly prayer breakfast in the basement of the Marsing Church of the Nazarene. He also spent years coordinating Marsing High School's all-class reunion each August.

In recent years, he has regularly submitted Christian-based spiritual columns to The Owyhee Avalanche.

✓ Fees: District could charge to rent HUB, cafeteria; preschool grant ends

“As a solution to make up for the shortfall, we are proposing a possible $100 fee for full-time preschool services to families that choose to enroll their preschool-age students in the program,” Stewart said.

The board also proposes an optional $25 Chromebook protection plan. Families could purchase the coverage to guard against damaged or lost laptops. It would cover a one-time occurrence of damage.

Stewart said there has been “a number of issues” of damage, from complete destruction to keyboard replacement, screen replacement, and replacement of power cables.

Facility use fees for The HUB and the cafeteria aim to help offset the expenses for utilities, supplies and cleaning up after building rental.

“Our school facilities are used on a regular basis by groups both inside and outside of the district. In some cases, special events unrelated to the school district request to use the facility,” Stewart said.

The fees would also cover custodial costs.

Groups within the school district will pay $250 to use the cafeteria, and the cost will double for groups from outside the district.

The HUB will also be included in the rental schedule — $50 in-district groups, and $100 out-of-district groups.

The district has an existing cafeteria kitchen usage fee of $20.

The district’s student transportation fee is proposed to increase $3 to $5. The increase would cover material and labor costs for printing the cards.

Lunch price increases are proposed, too. Student lunches will increase five percent:

- Elementary school lunch from $2 to $2.10
- Middle school and high school lunch from $2.75 to $2.85
- Adult lunches will increase 4.45 percent from $4.50 to $4.70.
- Adult breakfasts will increase six percent from $2.50 to $2.65.

Correction

The property bond amount for murder suspect Manuel Jose Cabrera was wrong in last week’s edition of The Owyhee Avalanche because of incorrect information listed on the Idaho courts repository. Owyhee County Jail commander Sgt. James Vincent said Cabrera bonded out at $40,000 as originally reported online by The Owyhee Avalanche.

On June 27, sheriff’s deputies were able to use Narcan to revive a 15-year-old Marsing boy who had overdosed on fentanyl, Kendrick said.

the boy was transported to a Caldwell hospital for further treatment.

Neil William Givens

Neil William Givens, age 58, of Anchorage, Alaska, formerly of Melba, Idaho, passed away of natural causes on May 22, 2023, near Trapper Creek, Alaska. He leaves behind his mother Peggy Forney of Nampa; his father Guy Givens and stepmother Judy Givens of Melba; his sister Jamie Givens of Nashville, Tennessee; and several extended family members.

Neil attended Melba Schools where he played trumpet and piano, excelled in football, and ran the 800 meters in track. After graduating from Melba High School, he attended American River College in the greater Sacramento, California area with a scholarship in Track & Field.

Neil spent time working for his father, both on the family farm in the Melba area and for the J.R. Simplot Company. He later joined a business based out of the state of Iowa as a contractor. He led construction crews across the country, from Idaho to Mississippi, building facilities for agribusiness.

A job as a wilderness guide and winter watchman at a hunting camp led Neil to the expansive state of Alaska. He also worked in construction on the Kenai Peninsula, Fairbanks, and Anchorage. He loved the independent spirit of the people and the Alaskan frontier. Neil was a cancer survivor who thrived after the disease went into remission.

At the time of his passing, Neil was a property manager for an apartment rental company, and he also served the Anchorage community by working with Client Services for the Anchorage Gospel Rescue Mission. In Neil’s words, “I chose to return to the Anchorage Gospel Rescue Mission to work because it is a place that was foundational to my success. My work at the Mission enables me to be engaged in helping others with their battles, to help them make sense of what for them is still a struggle. I can demonstrate for them that God is faithful and that there is a way through that very struggle.”

Graveside services will be held at 11:00 AM, Wednesday, July 5, 2023, at the Melba Cemetery located at 7277 Baseline Road in Melba. In Lieu of flowers, please consider donating to the Anchorage Gospel Rescue Mission, 2823 East Tudor Road, Anchorage, Alaska, 99507, or the Melba High School Athletic Department, 6870 Stokes Lane (PO Box 185), Melba, Idaho 83641.

From horses to ham sandwiches: Another year of 4-H presentations in the books

Owyhee County 4-H's presentation contests are an educational opportunity that allows our members to develop their public speaking abilities.

Presentations offer 4-H members an avenue to share their skills and knowledge of their projects with others. The objective of these competitions is to provide an opportunity for youth to share their passion and knowledge while honing their abilities and confidence speaking in public.

The contests were held in Grand View on June 13 and in Marsing on June 15. Eighty-— Melba resident Taryn Packer is the University of Idaho Owyhee County Extension Office AmeriCorps summer intern. The soon-to-be U of I senior is majoring in family consumer science education. This summer, she is hosting STEAM-structured day camps in Owyhee County and beyond touching on science, technology, engineering, art and mathematics.

A school bus is flanked by an Owyhee County Sheriff's SUV and a Homedale Police cruiser as authorities block off the westbound lane of East Idaho Avenue and wait for an Idaho State Police trooper to arrive to begin the investigation on June 27.

School bus collides with SUV in downtown Homedale

Westbound traffic on East Idaho Avenue was diverted for about two hours after a school bus rear-ended an SUV in downtown Homedale on June 27.

Homedale Police said the bus driver failed to slow and stop for a white Chevrolet Suburban the driver of which was waiting for another car to turn left onto North 1st Street East. The accident occurred around 3 p.m.

Witnesses said there were three or four children in the Community Council of Idaho bus, but all were escorted from the vehicle and no injuries were reported.

In edition to HPD officers, a Homedale Ambulance emergency medical technician responded to the scene in a private vehicle.

A Homedale Police officer and Owyhee County Sheriff's deputy remained on scene to ensure traffic was diverted through the ExtraMile parking lot until a Homedale-based tow truck could remove the school bus. Motorists were still taking the detour at 5 p.m.

Idaho State Police was called in to investigate the crash, but an HPD officer said he expected the bus driver would receive a citation. — JPB

by Janine Franco, PA, Terry Reilly Health Services

Living in a community where I can ride my bike to work and contemplate a bright spring morning is a pleasure that's hard to describe. My commute is surrounded by open fields of corn and alfalfa rather than blocked by busy roads and clogged highways. Instead of being berated by irritable commuters, I am scolded by chattering killdeer if I get a little too close. We are so fortunate to live near the beautiful yet rugged Owyhee mountains and the quietly powerful Snake River.

For this reason, it is essential to know the early signs of when you might be struggling and know where to go for help. The symptoms of early depression or anxiety can present in many ways including hopelessness, guilt, fatigue, sleeplessness, sadness, and irritability. If you have these symptoms or others, we can link you to a healthcare provider who can help you.

Our new Homedale clinic will offer expanded access to mental wellness services in Owyhee County. In addition to medical and dental services and a new pharmacy, we are introducing Patient Navigator Sandra Ortiz who specializes in providing behavioral health education and resources. She will be your first line of contact if you need support or want help connecting with services.

It is this landscape that attracts hardworking people like yourselves to the valley, people with strong spirits and fierce independence. Over the past 20 years, you have shared with me how your lives are a balancing act between caring for family, land and animals, dealing with financial challenges, and struggling with social isolation. I see how, sometimes, your toughness and fierce independence make it hard to think about taking care of yourselves, to ask for help when faced with problems.

We know that mental health and physical well-being are intricately intertwined. When our mental health suffers it can frequently present as a physical ailment. When we are physically unwell it can often cause an increase in stress, anxiety and depression. Research shows that Homedale residents, on average, report up to 16 poor mental health days per month. That's alarming considering the state average is 4 days per month. Suicide is the 7th leading cause of death in Idaho, the 5th highest suicide rate in the nation.

Next week, you'll learn more about Sandra and how her love of this community inspires her work.

Janine Franco is a family medicine provider at Terry Reilly Health Services. The new clinic opens soon and will be a complete healthcare center with medical, dental, behavioral health and pharmacy services. Terry Reilly accepts all types of insurance, cash pay and offers a sliding fee scale to ensure care is affordable for everyone.

Silver City Masons harken history, look to future

Members pilgrimage to Owyhee fraternal birthplace, hope to grow awareness

Anyone who has thumbed through old copies of The Owyhee Avalanche from the Silver City days undoubtedly has come across a curious acronym a time of two:

A.F.&A.M.

The letters and ampersand notate the Ancient Free and Accepted Masons who called the historic mining town home.

At one time, there were three Masonic Lodges in 19th century Silver City, including Owyhee No. 5 (1867), War Eagle No. 6 (formed by 13 Owyhee No. 5 Masons in 1868), and finally Silver City No. 13 (1881).

Eventually the lodges all merged under the Silver City banner, and in 1949 that lodge relocated to Homedale. The first meeting in Homedale was convened on Aug. 13 of that year.

Although Silver City No. 13 Masons have met in the current lodge room on West Idaho Avenue since 1957, the men still make an annual pilgrimage to the Silver City Masonic Hall.

The building, which straddles Jordan Creek, began life as Tom Jones' sawmill to turn out finished lumber for the booming mining camps. The Masons and Odd Fellows met in the building, and the Royal Arch Masons purchased the place in the 1870s.

Silver City No. 13 assumed ownership in 1946, and eventually sold the building more than a half-century later.

The Owyhee Cattlemen's Association held its summer meeting in the building during the extensive Silver City Schoolhouse renovation earlier in this century.

No. 13's current Worshipful Master, Homedale resident George Decker, past Worshipful Master Randy King, and Decker's son, DeMolay member Jack, took a trip to Silver City on June 10 to check out the building's structural integrity.

The trek in from Jordan Valley was a dry run in preparation for Saturday's annual Silver City meeting for No. 13. The meeting will include a Master Mason promotion, a special occasion that members try to pull off for a qualifying Mason each year at Silver City.

The Masons retained annual use of the Silver City lodge after selling the building to former Owyhee County resident Vern Tunnell. Tunnell's attempt to sell the building is ongoing, but the Masons hope to continue the usage clause with the next sales agreement, too.

Tunnell worked to shore up the building, but after their recent tour, the Masons decided to hold the meeting in the ground floor of the structure.

The second-floor lodge room still houses artifacts used for years by Silver City Masons.

Other "jewels," as the Masons call some of the ceremonial props, remain in use during the No. 13 lodge's monthly meeting in Homedale. The silver artifacts feature inscriptions from the Owyhee No. 5 and War Eagle No. 6 days, making those jewels true heirlooms of the Masons' history in Owyhee County.

The Owyhee County Masonic history was immortalized in a handbook, "Masonry in the Owyhees: A Brief Chronicle of Events, 1866-1982." The book was first compiled by Bert Adams, who was the Lodge No. 13 secretary in 1964 and a Past Master. One of his successors in the secretary post, Tom Arima, updated the book in 1982.

It's no surprise that Masonry blossomed among the mines in Silver City, George Decker said.

After he and King unfurled Silver City No. 13's original charter during a recent open house in Homedale, Decker pointed out that with no mining guilds, Masonry was the closest thing to a fraternal organization for the men who sought their fortunes in Silver City.

The history of Masonry in Owyhee County drips from the walls of the Homedale lodge, too.

There are photos of Past Masters for the Silver City Lodge, Wilder Lodge (which merged in 1985), and Parma Lodge (which merged in 1997). Among the Past Masters on the Homedale wall is O.H. Purdy, who died in the Battle of South Mountain with the Bannock Indians on June 8, 1878.

It's the rich history and the presence of Masonry in Owyhee County — and more directly Homedale — that King and his colleagues wanted to point out during a sparsely attended open house last month.

"We're in a town. We're part of a town, but nobody knows we're here," King said.

The Masons meet once each month in Homedale, but they also clean up a two-mile stretch of U.S. Highway 95 south of town a couple times a year. The lodge also sponsors scholarships for high school seniors each spring, and gives away bicycles as part of the Bikes for Books program at Homedale Elementary School.

Anyone who wants to know more about what Masonry is all about or what goes on inside that brick building on the north side of West Idaho Avenue can drop by or find a Mason for more information.

"We're trying to be involved and active and be part of the community, and that's why we are here," King said. — JPB money earner, clinching the prize even before the short go. "I was so grateful to win this trailer," the 16-year-old Saunders said. "I was so excited to win in such a high-class roping with so many great ropers."

Past Silver City No. 13 Worshipful Master Randy King holds a jewel — still in ceremonial use today — that a Mason from one of the three mining camp lodges would have worn.

Homedale wrestler dominates field for two national titles

What a difference a year makes. Homedale wrestler Hunter Bell rose to the top of his sport during a trek to Utah last month. A year after going winless in a trip to Utah, the 12U wrestler piled up two national championships and three runner-up showings. "This kid has dedicated his entire year and his own money to this sport," Homedale coach Joe Egusquiza said in a Facebook post. Bell capped his time in Utah with titles in the Kids Nationals for Greco-Roman and freestyle. He went 8-0 in the round robin tournaments. In the Greco-Roman competition: • 13-5 technical fall against Minnesota's Bobby McNutt • 18-second pin of Tuxley Kirkhart of Kansas

Rivercats alumni ready to go back in time, play again

Coach reaches out to old players for Friday exhibition

As the Owyhee Rivercats American Legion baseball regular season winds down, longtime coach Burke Deal is feeling nostalgic. Deal sent out word last week that he's organizing an alumni baseball game for former Rivercats. The game starts at 6 p.m., on Friday at John Jackson Field. Former players who want to compete can RSVP their old coach by email at burke@idealcustomhomes.net or by calling or texting (208) 724-5185. Players are asked to be at the park by 4:45 p.m. Some alumni include: John Collett, Jake Deal, Dakota Gamel, Ismael Garcia, Jaylon Hilton, Bo Jenkins, Michael Lejardi, Jordan Packer, Jason Puri, Chase Stoddard, Drew Taylor, Austin Williams, and Tyler Wood. Most of the former players competed at Homedale High School. Williams was a member of the last Marsing team to compete in a 2A state tournament before last season's return. The modern-day Rivercats (15-3 before the weekend) played a three-game road series Friday and Saturday against the Orofino Merchants. Scores weren't reported. Owyhee has four games left in the regular season, including back-to-back home 6 p.m., games today (Boise Storm) and Thursday (Emmett). ✓ Roping: Teenager wins horse trailer, qualifies for big Oklahoma event

But that didn’t stop him from putting more pressure on the competition. He also clinched the 10.5 championship with roping partner Wyatt Peek, a Fallon native.

The two ropers also won the Junior

Bob Fiest Invitational (BFI) 10.5 championship, which brought prizes such as paid entries into the 2024 Junior BFI in Guthrie, Okla.

Saunders and Peek focused on their last steer and a $6,500 payday and the trailer.

Peek explained it was the mantra instilled by his father — rope each steer the same, regardless of the stakes — that kept the nerves at bay and his focus on the steer at hand.

“This week has been so much fun,” the 15-year-old Peek said. “It’s so awesome to have a roping as high-class as this one so close to home.”

Squaw Creek culvert...
A worker takes a break at the construction site of a culvert where Squaw Creek crosses Highway 78 south of Marsing. Shoring has been installed to stabilize the creek bank to prevent the road from becoming undermined while improvements are made to an existing culvert. A 12-mile stretch of Highway 78 from Givens Hot Springs to Marsing will be resurfaced later this summer.

No beef barn at fairgrounds this year
Apparently there will be no beef barn at the Owyhee County Fair and Rodeo this year. Owyhee County Clerk Jim Huntley said Monday the county has $20,000 in the capital outlay fund in the budget, and needs an additional $12,000 before construction of a new barn can begin.

The parents of the girls who started a fire in September 1997 that destroyed the barn have been ordered by a judge to pay the county $33,336, Huntley said. The barn was insured for $52,000, and it will cost $65,000 to rebuild it.

Huntley said it is the intention of the commissioners to build a new barn. The county is presently negotiating with the insurance company, which had earlier said that the county had signed a release and therefore would not be compensated for the loss. Huntley said the county did not sign any such release.

Chroniclings...
NEW BOAT DOCKS have recently been installed. The docks were secured through the state, and the county's waterways committee, with Spud Murphy, chairman, and Homer Anderson, a member. The committee has also had gravel hauled to the area to prepare three sites for picnic tables. Concrete slabs will be poured and tables with shelters erected at the edge of Snake River at the dock site. Ray Tolsma and Mack and Norman Tolmie recently provided boats to retrieve sections of the old dock which had floated down the river and lodged below the mouth of Succor Creek.

Ensign; Assemblymen, Seth Catlin, Pat Campbell and Quin; Sheriff, W.S Stevens; Auditor and Recorder, T. D. Becket; Treasurer, A. H. Webb; County Clerk, Gus Simordi; Assessor, P. J. There were twenty-eight votes in the Convention and good humor and harmony prevailed, except in the case of the nomination for Sheriff, which was strongly contested. There were four principal aspirants for the Sheriffality, D. G. Monroe, John Lytle, Peter Donnolly and W. S. Stevens, and not until forty-two ballots were cast, occupying the entire afternoon of the first day and until midnight, and from eight o'clock next morning till noon, did Stevens receive fifteen votes, the least number required for a nomination.

State of education

Helping schools select quality, effective curriculum is on the agenda

What our students learn and how it is presented is important to parents, communities and Idahoans. The materials used in classrooms — referred to as curriculum — are selected by locally elected school trustees in a process laid out in state law. These statutes require that the process is open to the community and that chosen materials align with state learning standards. As an example, standards require students to learn about the Civil War in 11th grade. A local board then selects the materials used to teach the lessons.

Those decisions can be challenging as there are many national publishers who have their own ways of explaining our history. Trustees are responsible for choosing a curriculum that represents community values while ensuring students master Idaho standards. As a former local board member and district employee, I’ve been part of this process. In a perfect world, the district has curricular experts, an engaged community and an experienced board.

As superintendent, some frequent requests I get from districts are for more help in choosing curriculum tied to Idaho standards, help in paying for expensive curriculum and help in navigating the politics of these decisions. Historically, the State Department of Education (SDE) has provided a list of curriculums and rated how well the materials align with Idaho standards. However, there’s been no consideration for proven effectiveness with Idaho students. That is about to change.

Going forward, districts will continue to select their curriculums, but the SDE will begin a process for identifying materials proven to be effective in Idaho schools. Instead of just providing districts a list of what’s available, we will instead provide more detailed information so districts know whether or not the material has been successful in Idaho. We will begin this process with reading curriculum, but will expand this process to other subjects in the future. This is a service we can provide our districts to help with these very important decisions.

Homedale Library District officials ready to move forward with complex

They say it takes a village to raise a child. We, at the library, like to believe that we are a part of that village in Homedale.

In 2021, we had a dream that if we could convince the “powers that be” that we should become a district, then we would be able to expand our already-growing programs to provide more opportunities for our community.

On Election Day in 2022, 75 percent of the voters agreed, and the library district became a reality. At the June Public Hearing, the City Council gave final approval for the district to be gifted all three library buildings: the original lil’ white library built in 1921, the brick library built in 1980, and the new library built in 2018.

At this time, it is important to us that we say “THANK YOU” from the bottom of our hearts to each and every one who helped us accomplish this goal: the numerous people who have given financial aid so generously; the folks who signed petitions to put the question on the ballot in the first place; the Owyhee County Commissioners who allowed us on the ballot; the voters who gave us the mandate; all those who turned out to support us as we met before the City Council; and finally, the Council itself for allowing us the ownership of the buildings, which will now become a library complex.

We have a myriad of ideas and have already begun

Financial management

Don't expect employer to reimburse credit card purchases

Dear Dave,
I know you recommend using cash or debit cards instead of credit cards. But can you explain why my husband and I shouldn't take advantage of credit card points for travel expenses that are required for work but will be reimbursed by the employer?
— Cathy

Dear Cathy,
So, your employer is so poor they require you to advance them for your travel? You do understand if your employer decides not to pay you one month — for whatever reason — that it's your credit card and your debt, right? Even if this hasn't happened yet, you're exposed to the risk. All for a couple of airline miles that are virtually impossible to use?

No, thanks.
I understand this is standard procedure for some companies, but then a big chunk of corporate America has conned its employee base into taking out a loan on their behalf — with a promise of repayment — and the employee taking on all the risk. On top of that, these companies act as if operating this way is no big deal. Well, it is a big deal. And it's not a good way to run a business or treat your employees.
Cathy, I once counseled a guy who walked into my office with $11,000 on his American Express card that was "supposed" to be reimbursed. Guess what happened? When he went into work earlier that day, he found a padlock on the door. The company he worked for had filed Chapter 11

DAVE Says
by Dave Ramsey • www.davesays.org bankruptcy, and he got nothing. At that point, he had $11,000 on his American Express card, and the credit card company didn't care one bit about his company going broke. They wanted their money.

When you use a credit card, you spend more than when using a debit card or cash. Tons of research has proven this to be true. Using someone else's money just doesn't produce the same friction in your brain as paying for something with your own money. You don't feel the sting of it leaving your personal account. Do you want to know something else? I've never met a single millionaire who pointed to credit cards and airline miles as the reasons for their financial success.

But I do know a lot of broke, middle-class people strutting around, bragging that they gamed the system. They'll tell you they beat a multi-billion-dollar company, one that spends tens of millions of dollars every year on studying consumer behavior in depth, at their own game. But they really didn't. I'm telling you all this, Cathy, because I want you and your husband to protect your No. 1 wealth-building tool: your income.

Long story short: If you play with snakes, sooner or later you'll get bitten.

Wildfire prevention

You can drastically alter wildfire risk as IDL bolsters resources

We know the Smokey Bear saying by heart: "Only you can prevent forest fires." But every year, nationally, around 80 percent of wildfires are caused by humans. That jumps to more than 90 percent of fires when you look at what the Idaho Department of Lands (IDL) has responded to this year. It could be a thrown cigarette, a debris burning pile not carefully watched, a campfire left burning, dragging chains, or parking on dry grass. The list goes on.
There is no room for mistakes when looking to protect our communities and our natural resources from wildfire. The significant precipitation that we received this winter and spring has resulted in a lot of fine fuel growth, and as temperatures rise those fuels dry which increases the risk of wildfire.
The reminders to prevent wildfires are hard to miss, be it from IDL or our partner agencies. Among them: Make sure your fire is dead out. Don't drag chains or drive vehicles on dry grass. Be careful when target shooting. Don't use illegal fireworks. There are too many reminders to include here.

Dustin Miller
Idaho Department of Lands director

The Idaho State Land Board appointed Dustin Miller director of the Idaho Department of Lands in August 2018.
Prior to his appointment, Miller served as director of the Governor's Office of Species Conservation from 2012 to 2018.
He previously worked as then-U.S. Sen. Larry Craig's natural resources field coordinator and served as an advocate with the Idaho Farm Bureau.

However, despite the abundance of these messages, and the ever-ready online resources, brochures, news reports, social media posts, and pleas to prevent wildfires, human-caused fires still occur in alarming numbers. They outpace lightning-caused fires nearly every year.

So, given all of this, who can reverse this trend? Like Smokey wisely says...Only you can prevent wildfire!
The Idaho Department of Lands is ready for this wildfire season. We have increased our staff and our wildfire resources. We are stationed strategically to aggressively fight fires when they are first reported. We are beginning to use state of the art mountain-top camera technology to help us detect fires even more quickly so that we can decrease our response time. Controlling fires quickly, before they grow, saves valuable natural resources and tax dollars. Last fire season we stopped 92 percent of fires at 10 acres or less.
We are doing our part to protect Idaho from wildfire.
But we need your commitment to help prevent accidental fires. Only you can do your part to prevent wildfire.

✓ Curriculum: Legislature reviews, approves standards periodically to prioritize curriculum

Idaho education standards are reviewed and approved by the state Legislature every five years. We are currently in the process of reviewing our social studies standards. This gives us an opportunity to do an analysis first and then prioritize curriculums that align with the standards. Recently, Gov. Brad Little and I provided an opportunity for districts to supplement their classroom curriculum at no cost to them. We used expiring federal COVID dollars to add more interactive content. Many teachers already supplement their core lessons with outside resources, and the new "Story of America" gives them one more. Details on how schools can access this will be available in the coming weeks.

The bottom line is that Idahoans care deeply about what our students learn in the classroom and want them to be prepared for life and the opportunities in a growing state. We want them to be strong citizens, who are self-reliant and independent, critical-thinkers. Providing our teachers with the right tools supports us in this important pursuit.
